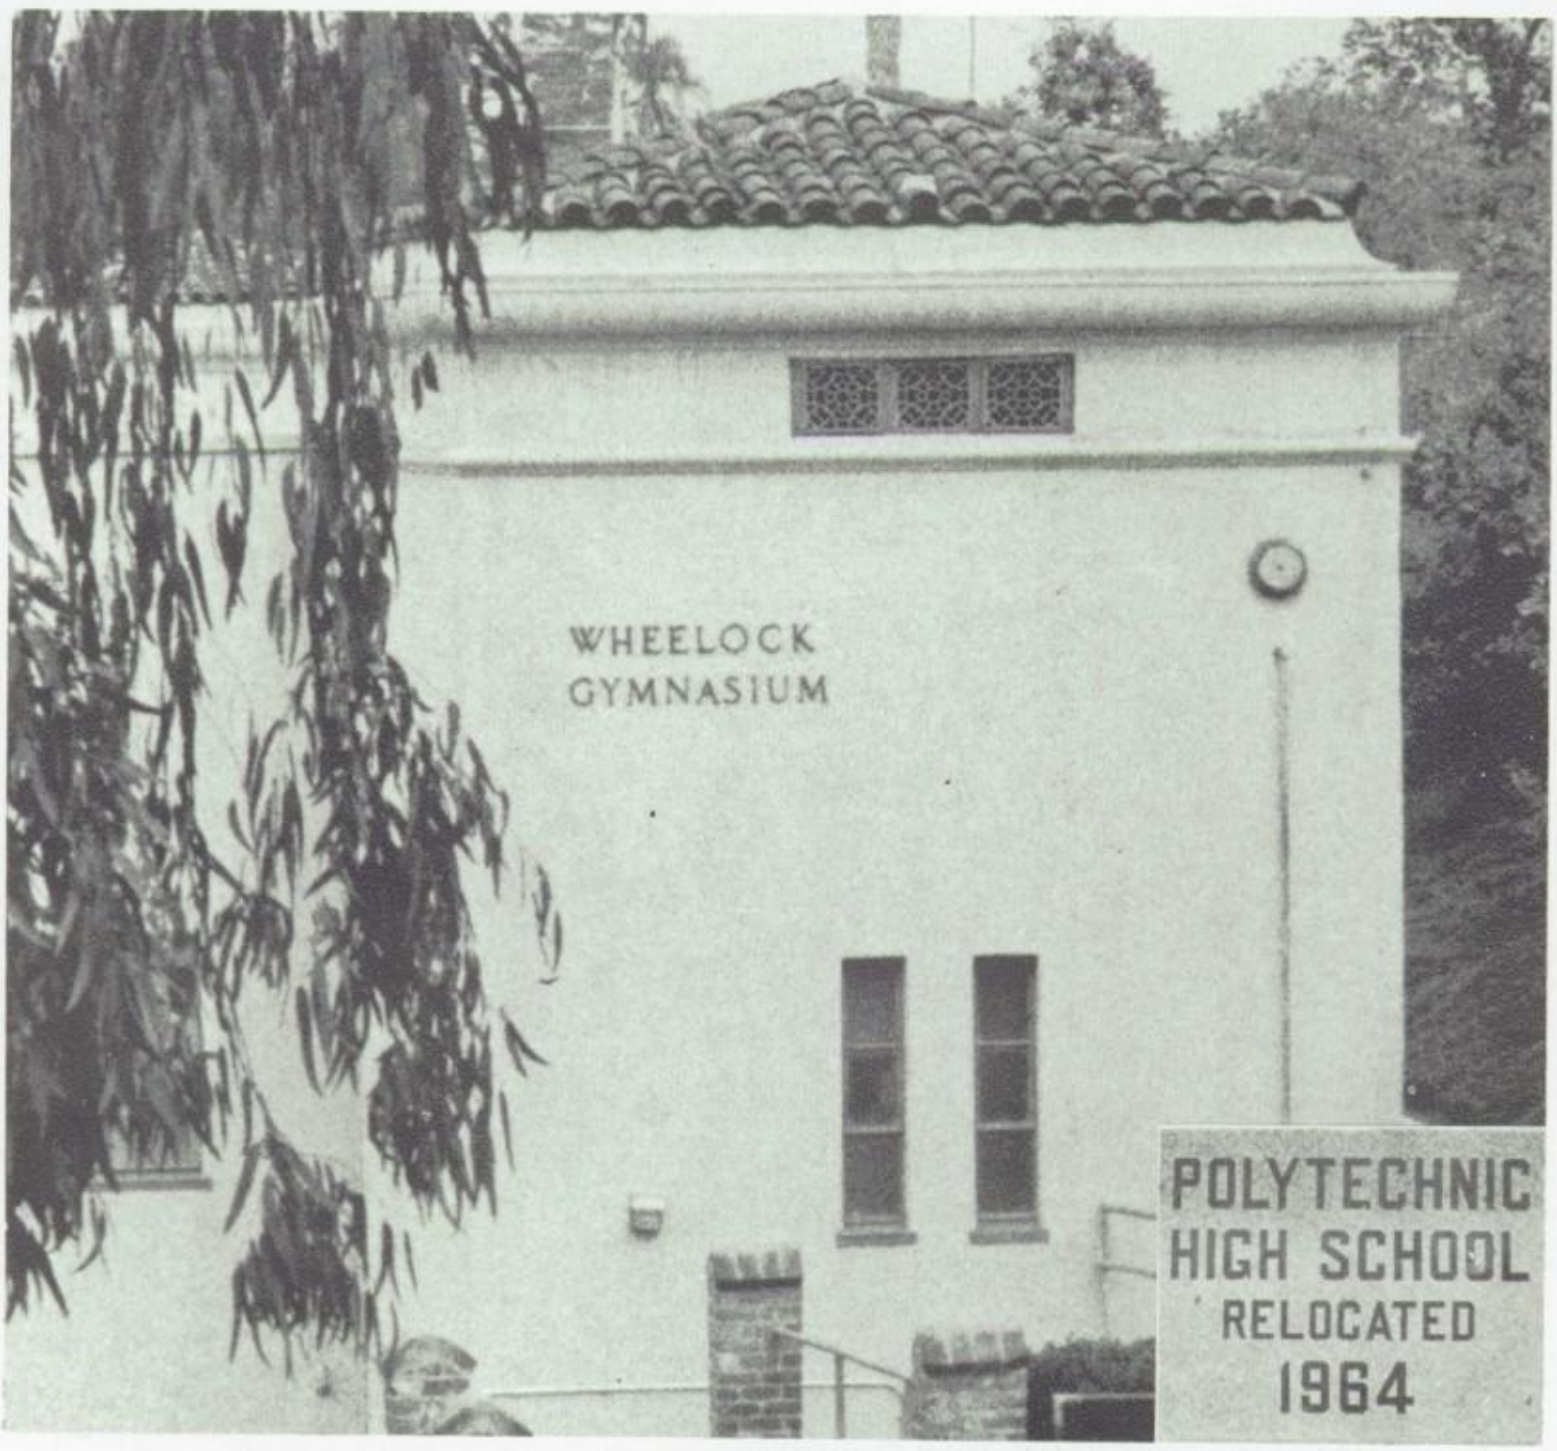
RIVERSIDE POLY

Since 1913



Although Poly High School has seen several changes in locations through the years, it has proved to be the connecting link between the many generations of Poly students. As the first high school in Riverside, it emerged as the most outstanding in the city, a tradition which has been carried on throughout the years. One of the oldest relics of the past still remaining is the Alma Mater, which has not changed since the beginning of Poly. Wheelock Gym is the only physical remnant of the old Poly, but the true school spirit still lives on in 1978.

William Bell III, Poly's legendary English wizard, is retiring this year after 40 years at Poly High School; so it is in that respect that we dedicate this year's KOALA to him. Through the years Mr. Bell's classes of knotheads have clamored noisely for war stories (accumulated in his Marine Corps days) whenever a test was imminent. Unlike some of his students, Mr. Bell never went "flicker, flicker" – he always went "zot." The hardest part of his job was trying to put "specific, concrete details" into our "pretty or handsome little heads." Those students unable to retain these details spent their class time in the leprosarium while Mr. Bell lectured from his individualistic podium. When he demanded of his classes the reason why he was notorious for working them to the bone, the students would chorus in unison, "because you love us!" So we, the KOALA staff of 1978, and the entire student body, would like to thank you for a job well done. Cheers!

CLASSES

SENIORS HAVE POLY PRIDE

Four years ago, we, the class of '78, were initiated into an elite group dubbed the "Snorts." With obvious dignity and superiority, we failed to see ourselves as the "immature" freshmen portrayed by the class of '75. Calmly . . . we watched with disdain as the then seniors made absolute fools of themselves. Now, however, as seniors ourselves, we have retained our air of dignity and superiority and have become the ultimate examples of perfection for those beneath us. Surviving the gasoline crisis, the drought, and then the flood, we have emerged with spotless Poly Pride.

MUCS ARRIVE

The year was quickly passing and the Freshmen and Seniors were anxiously awaiting the infamous Freshman naming assembly. The day finally arrived to the excitement of the Freshmen and Seniors and the disappointment of the Juniors and Sophomores who were excluded due to disciplinary problems during past assemblies. The Seniors ingeniously created a cardboard box machine that produced perfect Seniors, less-than-perfect Juniors and Sophomores and finally as the machine broke down, it spewed out some slimy, smelly, squirmy people who could only be called MUCS. As usual, a little something was needed to give the assembly that extra spice. Not to be surpassed by last year's throwing of eggs, the Seniors decided to portray the Juniors emerging from the machine as dopers. Administrators became quite worried as students lighted joints which they at first believed to be something other than tea leaves.

Although the Junior Class float, The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, didn't fulfill the hopes and dreams of the Juniors who spent many hours working on it, it did stand out among the other class floats. The Khaki class itself stood out among all previous Junior classes. Other than the fact that their president quit half-way through his term, their undying spirit marvelled everyone – especially the Seniors. After exciting the school with their plans for an out of town Prom, they announced that it will be held in a "different" location – Ontario Motor Speedway. With all of these individualistic efforts, the class of '79 certainly proved themselves to be outstanding.

Never Dies!

Amazingly, the KHAKI spirit survived the lull into which previous Junior classes seemed to have fallen. They were always abundant at Pep Rallies and most of them gave their all to win class competition. However, there were always a few who had trouble getting excited so early in the morning.

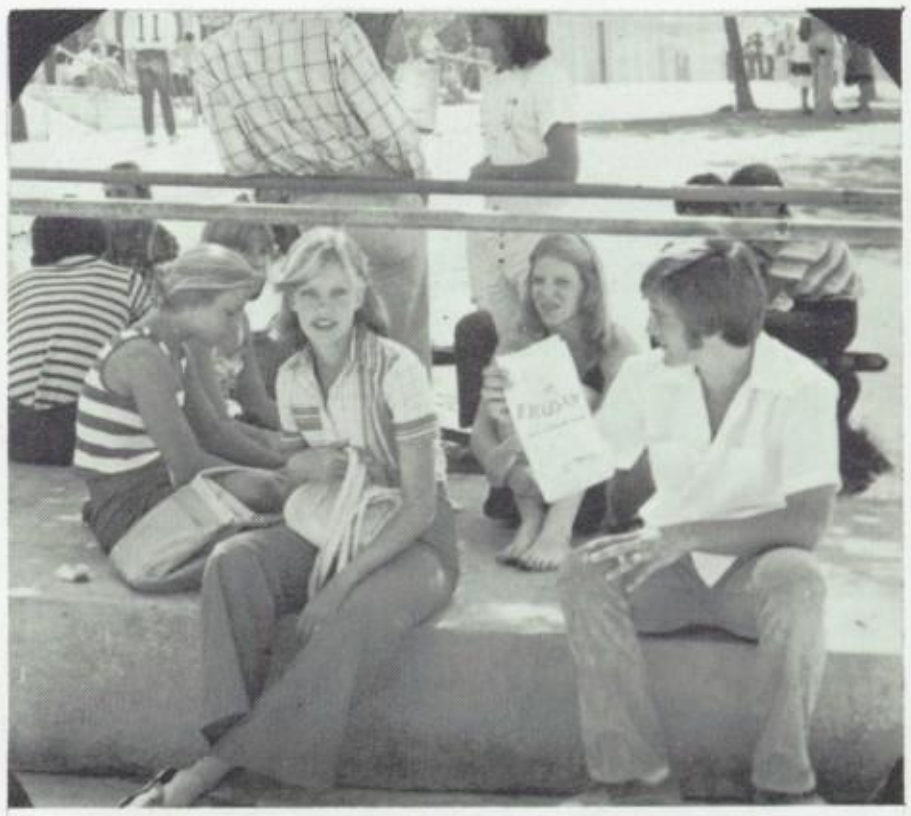
The Junior Class Officer family posed for an informal portrait. They were, standing, Cathy Knox, Secretary; Kari White, Social Chairman; Raymund Harris, Advisor. In the tree were Kelly Eaton, Treasurer, and Carrie Miller, President.



Gordy Pulsifer showed off his lunch bag with pride. "My mom puts my peanut butter sandwiches in 'Frosty' bags instead of in those plain old brown lunch sacks."

The Sophomores of 1977-78 accomplished numerous feats that made their year a success. With overwhelming impressiveness, the Munchkins swept the Homecoming honors with a humorous skit and their cleverly constructed float, Tortoise and the Hare. Adding to the honors was their victory over the Freshmen in the inter-class track meet, with the score of 222-195. The Munchkins' spirit continued throughout the year and when Spirit Week rolled around they placed 2nd, one point behind the Juniors. When the Disco dances hit Poly, the industrious Sophomores attacked this problem with 2 dances, one of which earned more money than ANY other dance at Poly! Another money-making adventure was the sponsoring of 3 ski flicks, which livened up a normally dull Friday night! These financial efforts earned the Munchkins' $1,000, without the usual selling of any fattening candy bars or painting any lowly curbs. These successful Munchkins have traveled through another year of their lives and have filled the hours with new experiences, bad as well as good memories that will continue with them all their lives. With the end of this year the class of '80 has completed half of the "best years" of their lives – LIVE IT UP AND MAKE THE MUNCHKINS #1.

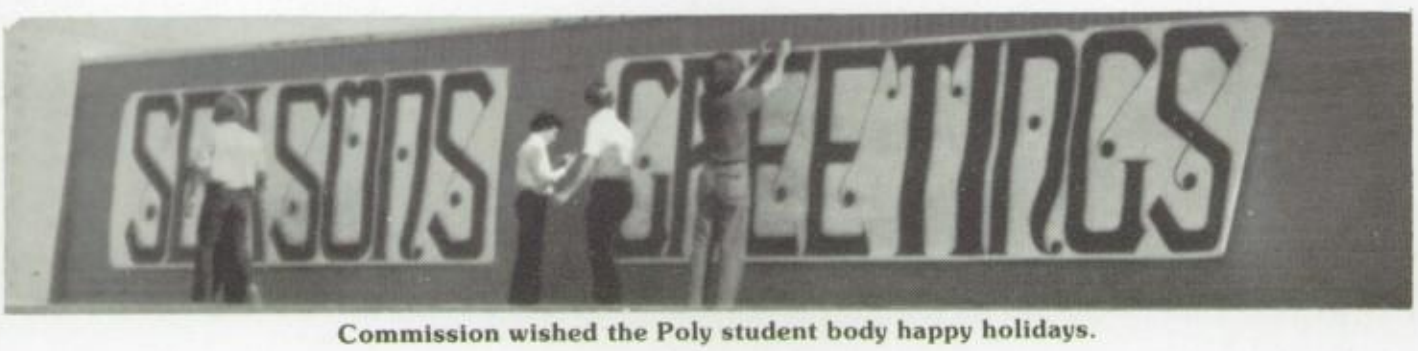
ACTIVITIES

Activities Go

The Halloween festivities caused a few people to lose their heads.

After their exuberant pertormances at half-time shows, Lori Anderson and Kellie Patterson still had energy to flash their pearly whites.



Commission wished the Poly student body happy holidays.

A reject from the North Pole, "Santa Mort" showed up at Poly for the Xmas holidays.

This year, students went to the polls to cast their ballots for A.S.B. officers (Just like grown-ups!).

"I want to be like Ted!" one of the lunch time acid rock "coolies" exclaimed.

Great in "78"

This year the accreditation committee visited Poly to case the joint and check out our goods.

What more can be said about Poly Pride!

Mr. Bronstrup's carpentry class put their talents to practical use when they constructed a storage building for the school.

Willie King was amazed at the exquisite craftsmanship that was displayed by this year's woodshop classes.

It was a rare moment at Poly when education became interesting, as Mr. Handen's science class observed the solar eclipse this year.

This trio, Debbie Wentland, Lisa Vanderkyl, and Vicki Jones showed off their triplet koalas on Twins Day.

Mary Thoele and Laura Hardie expressed their opinions of Spirit Week.

No one even gave Julie Bakenhus a second glance for her bobbie socks or open-toed shoes.

Kathy Powell waved to the camera while skating by.

The crowds ate lunch while enjoying the entertainment.

Spirit Week was an exciting event for all involved. For those who wanted to play it cool, there were ice blocking and ice sitting contests. For the nonchalant there was an opportunity to pull out the shades and OP shirts, and skateboard during Surfer Day. Other events such as the sundae building contest, Fifties Day and Twins Day highlighted the week to make it fun for all.

Liz Perrine said, "Everybody needs milk – expecially these bunnies."

Yvonne Frantz got a push from Brad Benter while Maria Mayeaux checked Katy De Witt's zipper.

Liz Perrine looked down from the tree tops with the help of stilts.

Crowds Involved

PTA mothers had fun convincing young lovers to buy mums for their sweethearts.

Marie-Jeanne Juilland, Commissioner of Homecoming, worked hard to make this year's Homecoming a memorable occasion. With such changes as a new parade route and family picnic at UCR, everyone was able to enjoy themselves in various activities.

Fathers had a profitable time selling grinders to the crowd.

The princesses' escorts felt that the pies were more valuable as weapons than as food.

Although "Coke adds life," for Pam Barnett it's "Me an' my RC."

A jazz band added music to the occasion.

The boys got an exciting game of volleyball going.

The Millers, Carrie, Leslie and their mother, got together for a family picnic.

Kathy Kranhold, Katy Whitaker and Cindy Mackey found time to picnic.

Dave Kanel and David Eckmann munched out on grinders.

Cavalier's Club placed second with Robin Hood and his merry men.

THE WINNERS

Sophomores finished in first place among the classes with their depiction of The Tortoise and the Hare.

Parade Adds Pizzazz

Lettermen's Club contributed The Scarlet Letter.

Humanities Club showed its version of The Hunchback of Notre Dame.

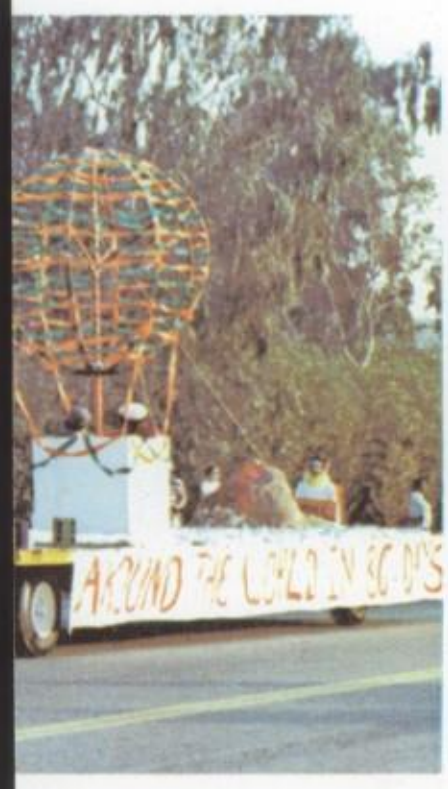
FBLA pictured an unlikely Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn: Kristi Wilson and Marie Dipadova.



Around the World in Eighty Days with CSF.

Girls' League on the yellow-brick road with The Wizard of Oz.

MECHA's float: The History and Conquest of New Spain.

Jester's Club demonstrated its dramatic talents in Macbeth.

Instrumental Music took first place in club competition with its rendition of The Three Musketeers.

The portrayal of Roots, Part II earned BSU a third place title.

This year's Homecoming parade was an exciting event with the theme "Great Classics in Literature." The great classic himself, Mr. Bell, added sparkle to the parade as Grand Marshall. Since the students made use of the Veteran's holiday, this year's floats were bigger and better than those of previous years.

To Homecoming

Key Club sailed away with The Old Man and the Sea.

The Pep Squad worked hard to make their beautiful float, The Hobbit.

Vocal Music created an impossible dream: Don Quixote.

The Headless Horseman terrorized the Junior class in The Legend of Sleepy Hollow.

A dragon and a damsel in distress depicted the Senior's opinion of the classic Morte D' Arthur.

Four clubs at Poly, Girls' League, Key Club, Accreditation Committee, and High School Volunteers have again served their fellow classmates as well as those in need. The young men in Key Club have again had a successful calendar campaign. The young ladies composing Girls' League worked hard to insure a successful Christmas Drive. The Accreditation Committee at Poly spent the year seeing to the scholastic needs of the students here on our campus. While the Accreditation Committee was working on shoring up Polyites' education, the High School Volunteers were busy at work in local hospitals donating their time to the disadvantaged and needy.

The girls were working hard at Christmas on the drive.

Back Row: Paul Dievendorf, Brett Ambridge, Gary Frank, William Bell, Al Trausch.

The Army JROTC was kept busy by Major Robert Sagona and Sergeant Kenneth Klinger and the hard work was obvious. In addition to a second place award won by the Cavalier's Club in the homecoming float competition, some of the JROTC's prestigious awards included first place awards to the Color Guard and Drill Teams in the Rubidoux Western Days Parade, and second place awards to the Drill Teams and the Batallion Marching Unit in the Riverside 500 Parade. The JROTC Batallion conducted an impressive farewell for retiring Mayor Ben Lewis, who was an active member of Poly's JROTC in 1920.

This company showed the precise style and form that received many admiring glances.

All that marching built up an appetite in Walter Turkowski.

INTERESTS RANGE FROM

Bear Tracks is a literary magazine containing the creative writing of Poly students. The staff, made up of diligent students, worked hard reading, reviewing and selecting the works that were submitted.

In an effort to enlighten Poly students to the cultural arts, Humanities traveled to the Huntington Hartford Museum and Library. Club members raised money for their cultural experience by enthusiastically participating in a bake sale, car wash, and rummage sale.

Although FBLA was inactive for most of the year, they were able to muster up enough enthusiasm to participate successfully in Homecoming'78.

Forensics may have been small, but it was extremely successful. They competed at several universities including: USC, UCLA, UC Berkeley, UCR, Cal Poly Pomona, and Cal State Fullerton. Using their four best players, the College Bowl team captured the championship at UCR, winning two $700 scholarships for themselves and much pride for Mr. Bell in his last year as coach. The team, comprised of Siobh'an Nurre, Carl Aschmann, James Kohut, and David Eckmann, competed against sixteen other high schools from Southern California and have managed to win their third championship in five years.

New Season Jesters Kick Off

Jesters staged four plays this year, under the outstanding direction of Gary Krinke. As well as putting on productions such as "The Boyfriend," "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's News," "A Midsummer's Night Dream," and "Jesus Christ Superstar," the Jesters organized many activities, such as a trip to "Beatlemania" and the R.C.C. Theater Festival, where several members received awards in the talent competition. I.T.S. organized a trip to New York and attended several Broadway productions, including "Equus" and "Annie."

With Mini-Musical

Maisie and friends displayed how "perfect young ladies" should act.

Cast of "The Boyfriend": Polly Browne – Darlah Eikeland; Tony Brockhurst – John Ensey; Maisie – Rian Rasmussen; Bobby – John Shannon; Dulcie – Carolyn Ott; Alphonse – Clay Wilcox; Madame Dubonnet – Deirdre Nurre; Percival Brown – Mike Nobles; Fay – Jody Kamrath; Marcel – Matt Herschler; Nancy – Kate Hudson; Pierre – Bob Holcomb; Lady Brockhurst – Ricarda McFalls; Lord Brockhurst – Dell Adcock.

Percival expressed his great love for Madame Dubonnet.

Alphonse and Dulcie struck a difficult pose.

It was love at first sight for Tony and Polly

The Boyfriend

The chorus kicked off the musical by singing "The Boyfriend."

ONE

Another rule broken – basketball in the hall.

Candy Starr's marriage to Billy Bibbitt propelled him into manhood.

FLEW

R. P. McMurphy used his finesse to get the best of Nurse Flinn.

Dr. Spivey discussed the mental attitude of McMurphy.

The inmates had a short-lived thrill before Nurse Ratched turned off the World Series.

OVER

"One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest" was performed on a unique slanted stage that allowed all of the action to be seen at every angle. Excellent stage lighting and masterful direction by Gary Krinke helped turn the play into a success.

Chief Bromden told his father of his problems.

THE CUCKOO'S NEST

JESTERS PRESENT A SHAKESPEAREAN COMEDY

"We'll put a girdle around the earth in forty minutes. Go Pucks, go!"

Oberon, King of the Spirits, argued with Titania.

"When she is angry, she is keen and shrewd."

A Midsummer Night's Dream

For "A Midsummer Night's Dream," director Gary Krinke set the stage in the midst of the audience, giving the spectators a feeling of being involved in the action. The play itself moved quickly, the action shifting from one area to another. The play's colorful costumes, action, and seating arrangement produced an unusual and entertaining experience.

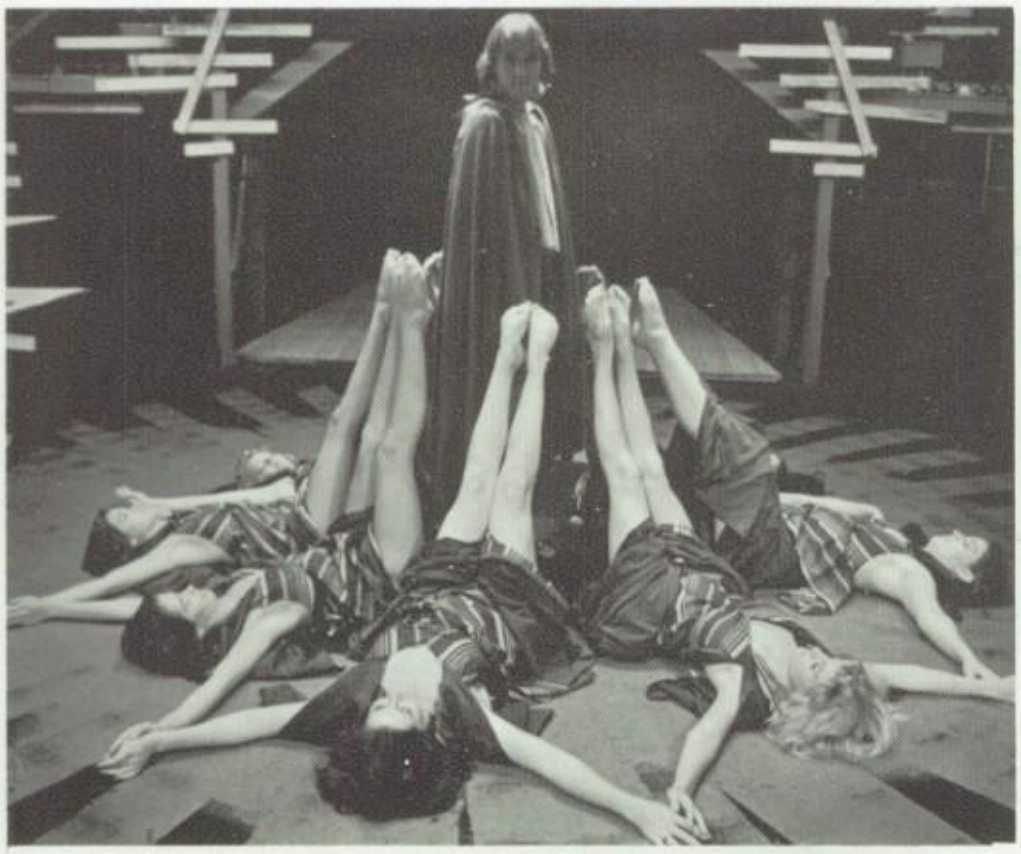
"The lunatic, the lover, and the poet, are of imagination compact."

The Spirits are disgusted at Bottom's humor.

Jesus Christ Superstar



Judas warned Jesus that his followers had too much "Heaven on Their Minds."

Jesus smiled as he was welcomed into Jerusalem.

Vocal Ensemble - Kristie Boring, Susan Crocker, Randy Ingram, Sandy Matthews, Lisa Schuljak, Chris Snodgrass, Mary Swinkowski, Heather Whipple.

The priests convinced Judas to accept their "Blood Money."

Mary assured Jesus that "Everything's All Right."

Herod's harem showed Jesus their stuff.

Descends on Poly

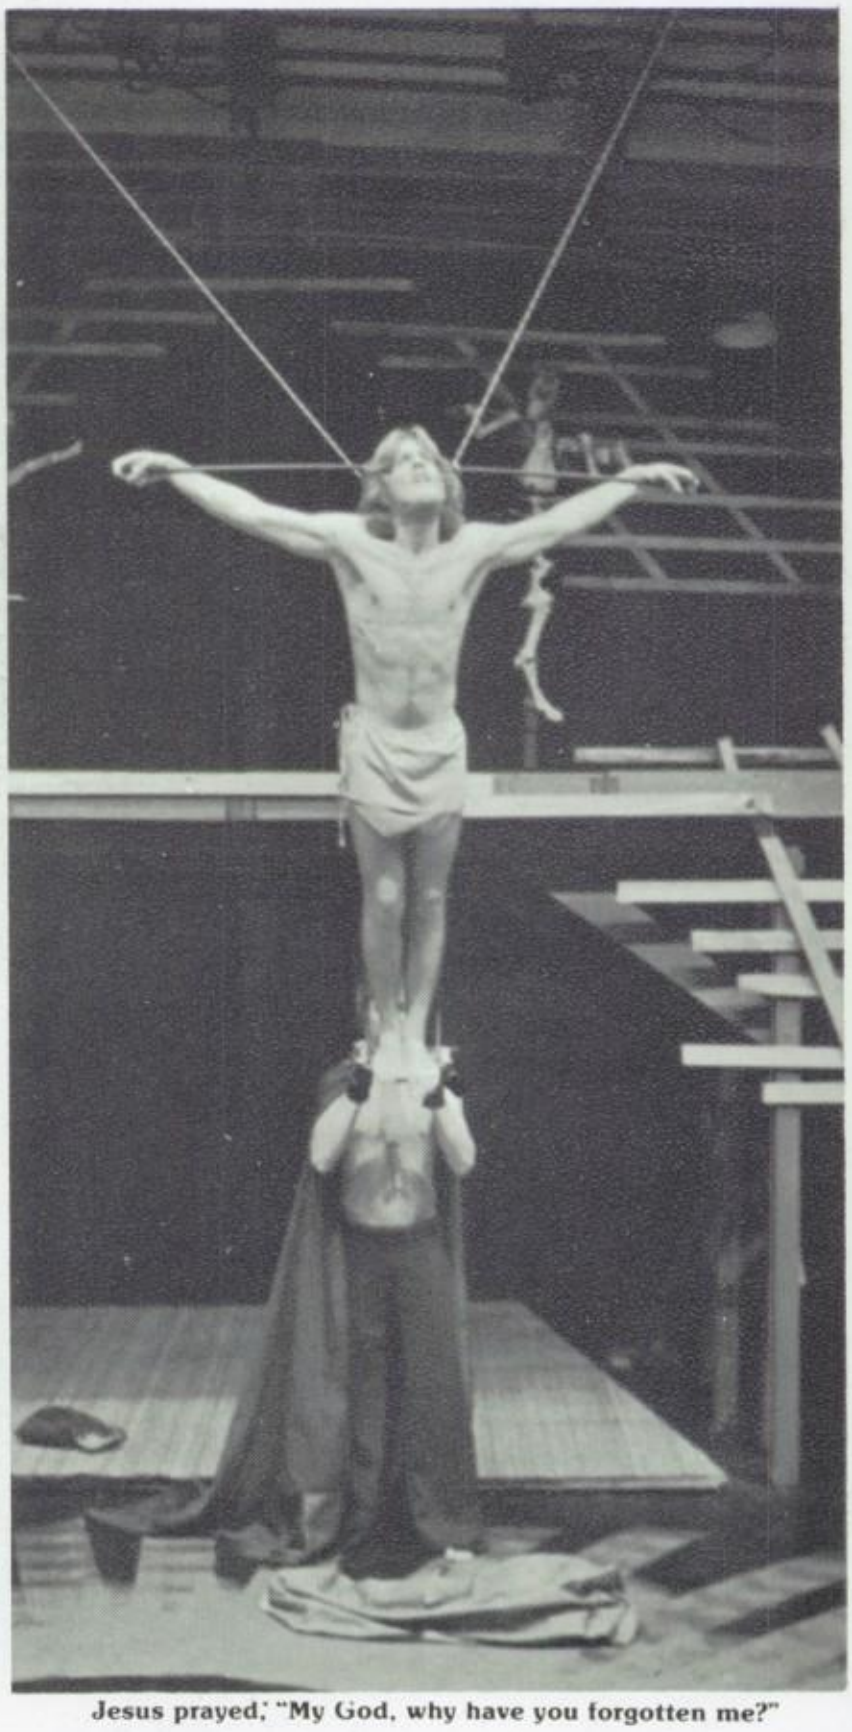
Jesus pleaded for his apostles to "remember me when you eat and drink."

For the finale of director Gary Krinke's first year at Poly, the Theatre Arts Department presented the rock opera Jesus Christ Superstar. The enthusiasm projected by the talented cast of eighty readily spread to the rest of the student body. Many grueling hours of hard work were put into the show, but on opening night, the sweat and the frustration were gone and only excitement remained.

Judas betrayed Jesus with a kiss.

JESUS CHRIST SUPERSTAR

Judas asked, "Jesus Christ, Superstar, do you think you're what they say you are?"



Jesus prayed, "My God, why have you forgotten me?"

Sing Merry Melodies

This year's singing season was a busy one for Poly's Vocal Music Department. The season commenced with a successful festival at El Modena. The choir and soloists Darlah Eikeland and Willie King received a standing ovation for the performance of songs from the popular musical Godspell. This year's Chamber Singer group, although young, was exceptionally talented. During the Christmas season members of the group were required to maintain good grades in their school subjects while missing their classes to give over fifty performances. The Press Enterprise gave the group recognition of their effords by publishing an article on them in their newspaper. As well as singing for such groups as the Elks Club, Gas Company, and Junior League, the group cut a record and planned to sing their way to San Francisco .

Instrumental Music

Poly's dedicated musicians worked very diligently this year, and as always, the rewards were many. The Instrumental Music Department hosted musical groups from all over Southern California in the two-day District Music Festival. Poly's Wind Ensemble and Concert Band received the highest marks of Superior and these two bands qualified for the State Festival competition. When the musicians were not winning awards, they gave high quality Spring and Pops Concerts, and occasionally entertained the student body by performing during lunch.

Operates Smoothly

KNBC newscaster Jess Marlow spoke to an excited caucus about the advantages of political conventions.

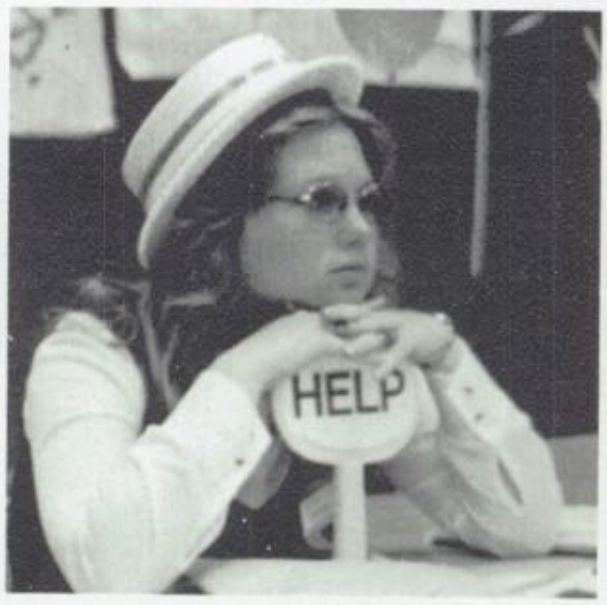
Carolyn Ott gave a successful speech for ASB Secretary.

The indomitable Humphrey Bogart was the focus of Convention '78 – here's looking at you.

Commission members David Sanchez, Cindy Mackey, Leslie Miller, Marie-Jeanne Juilland, and Steve Clarence expressed their different feelings.

Susan Thomas exuded the type of energy which was required of all delegates.

Theresa Shehan and Jody Kamrath provided the entertainment.



Yvette Shook proved that subtlety was not one of her stronger points.

1977-1978 was a turbulent year for school politics. Eliminating the office of the ASB Board of Education Representative and combining those responsibilities with the ASB Vice President's was only one of several changes in Poly's constitution. Overall, Poly's political machine thrived.

B.S.U., A.F.S. Stimulate

"The purpose of the Black Student Union is to satisfy the needs and wants of the black students of Poly High and to improve the relationships between all students at Poly. In addition, the B.S.U. must work to unite all black students in the participation of school functions and activities." This year the Poly High B.S.U. has again achieved these goals; the exhibits, luncheons, assemblies, and band entertainment during Black History Week served as a successful approach in motivating black cultural awareness among all Poly students. The club also held a Black History Week queen coronation to honor the B.S.U. member who has best served the club and the local community. It also organized the B.S.U. basketball team which competed against B.S.U. members from other schools. Finally, the club wrapped up a productive school year by holding its annual scholarship banquet, honoring all of Poly's outstanding black students.

B.S.U. Front Row (Officers): Dell Roberts (advisor), Ken Overton, Marsha Overton, Angie Ward, Gwen Youngblood, Laura Altheimer, Cheryl Carter. Second Row: Irma Sutton (advisor), Dani Masterson, Willie Cummings, Tim Hoover, Steve Palmer, Karen Williams, Regina Rooks, Beverly Nezart, Jewel Bundy, Stacy Middleton, Robin Shaw, Vanessa Hawkins, Danny Harris. Once again the American Field Service Club members of Poly High should be commended for the work and diligence involved in making this year's carnation sale a real success. Despite the untimely poor weather conditions which postponed the delivery of the Valentine greetings, the two week delay did not seem to mar the spirit of carnation sale '78. Aside from the successful carnation sale, A.F.S. sold greeting cards to finance the various scholarships offered by the club. This year A.F.S. also enjoyed a number of lectures concerning different foreign cultures given by many of the exchange students living in Riverside.

Anna Bjorkegien from Sweden and Ari Jalkanen from Finland exhibited their native talents as Poly's exchange students.

Kathy Morrison's face lit up with relief as Laurence McFalls tied the last of the 3000 carnations.

James Kohut entertained Siobhan Nurre, Karen Metcalf, and David Eckmann with his dramatic reading of one of the more "juicy" messages sent at Valentine's Day.

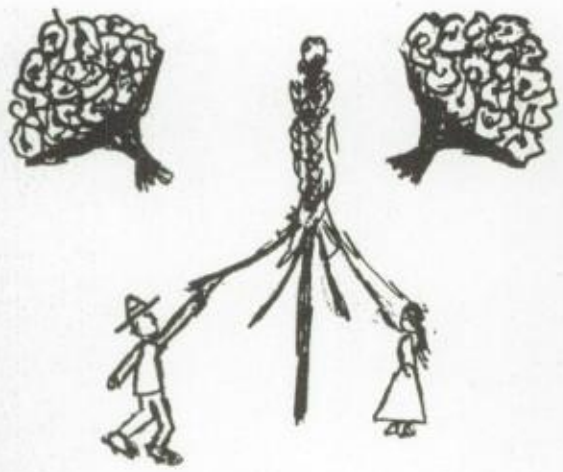
May Is The Time

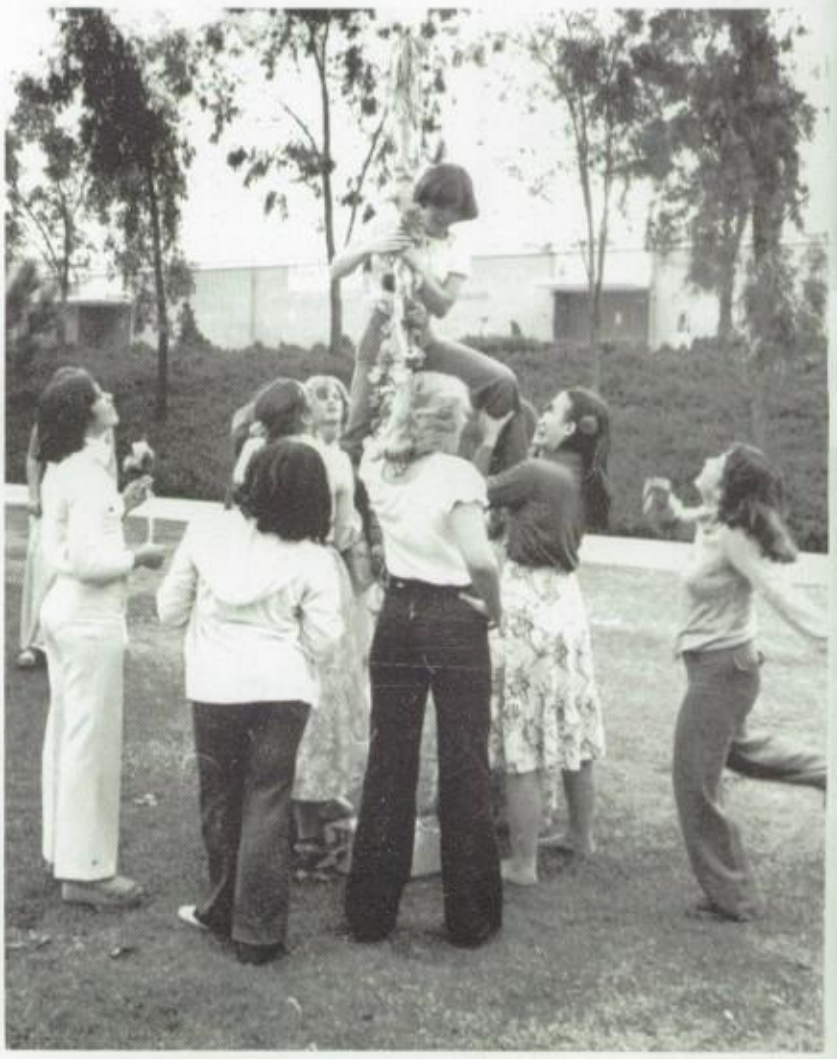


Although the Junior Honors English class was unable to host the May Day Celebration, the Senior Honors English class carried on the tradition. Led by several experienced Seniors, the Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman Honors English classes danced and laughed their way around a very colorful May Pole.

Shawn Binder started to worry as things got a little cramped as she tucked flowers into the ribbons on the May Pole.

Deirdre Nurre, Mary Murphy, and Virginia Heumann just couldn't stop dancing, even though the crowds were long gone.

Susie Gerzel showed grace and finesse while others stumbled and ducked their way around the May Pole.



Kristie Boring got a little help from her friends as she climbed the May Pole to crown it with one last bouquet.

For Dancing

The 1978 Junior-Senior Prom took place at the Ontario Motor Speedway Restaurant on May 6th, with the theme "Just The Way You Are." Mizzouri Foxx provided the music to which most of the couples danced, while others were content to sit and talk or stroll around the track. Many couples had dinner before the Prom at classy places such as Aesop's, Lord Charley's, Bobby McGee's, Jacque's, Edwards Mansion, Five Crowns, and The Rusty Pelican.

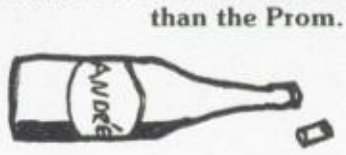
Kathy Menzia stared with disbelief as Mark Unrath displayed a little rhythm.

Mizzouri Foxx rock-and-rolled for the crowd at the Prom.

"Slow dancing, swaying to the music."

Theresa Shehan and Darlah Eikeland showed their appreciation of the band.

Gretchen Rosenberg and Bob Alvarez found each other more interesting than the Prom.



Chaperones kept watchful eyes on the young lovers.

Couples enjoyed a little night music, oblivious to the crowd.

Lisa Vanderzyl and Todd Whitson took advantage of one of the musical highlights of the evening, the Beatles' "I Wanna Hold Your Hand."

No matter what era, entertainment in its various forms has always been one of the primary concerns of the Poly High student. Assemblies this year consisted of different subjects, ranging from soccer to music. The assemblies were very relaxed and low-key (some students were unaware an assembly was even being held) and they were a pleasant break from the regular third period drudge.

Picture 1 – Genuine actor Dennis O'Neill and Craig, a KFXM disc jockey presented a history of comedy.

Picture 2 – "You mean you cannot guess why I am having trouble walking?"

Picture 3 – Kelly Ward, Cindy Mackey, and friend frolicked at the Homecoming assembly.

Picture 5 – Music Americana entertained with music ranging from tribal African to rock.

Picture 6 – The cheerleaders imitated members of the Varsity Basketball team.

Picture 7 – Dennis and Craig handed out free records as a part of the KFXM comedy presentation.

Picture 8 – Kathy Kranhold bids bye-bye to hubby, the dragon-slayer.

Picture 9 – The girls did not fare much better than the Basketball team did against the California Surf.

What You Eat Is

Trish Raftery and Lulu Richardson spent lunch munching potato chips and eyeing guys.

Brian Yeager pondered the meaning of life while devouring his hamburger.

Poly's lunches obviously did not agree with Rosanna Viveros.

Kathy Powell made a sundae worthy of Swensen's using Jeff Oberloh's face as a dish during Spirit Week.

Lunchtime represented both the best and worst of life at Poly. At best, lunch was a nice break for studying, talking, or even eating. At worst, it was long cafeteria lines, trash all over campus, and a crowded library when it rained. Among this year's lunchtime innovations was the double lunch. This combined the two lunch periods into one and featured Riverside's amateur rock bands and extra long cafeteria lines. This enjoyable period occurred on the second Wednesday of every month. It was especially looked forward to by those students fortunate enough to have a car in which to go out to lunch.

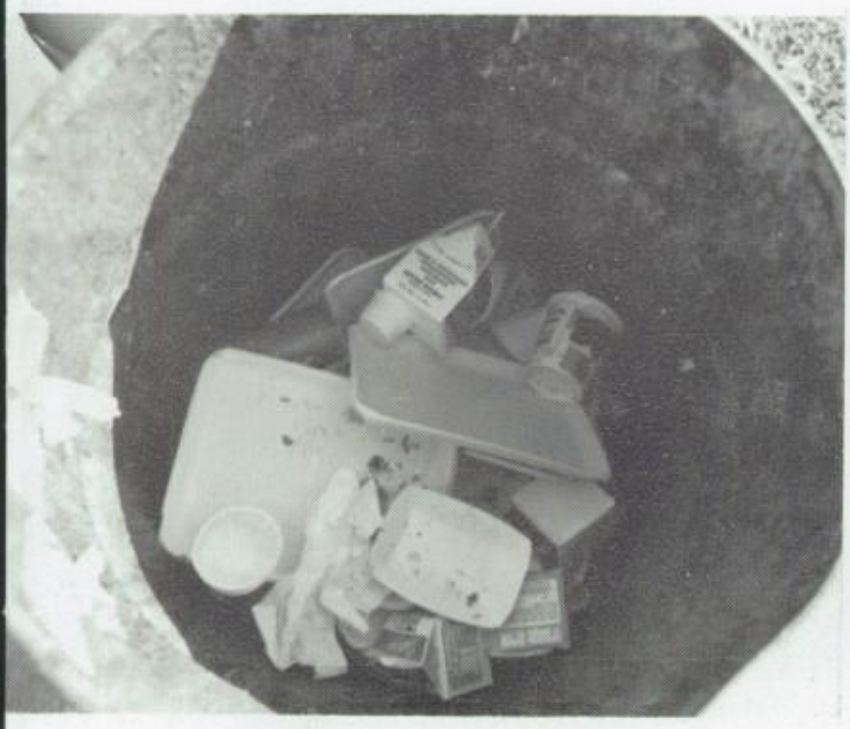
What You Are

Renee Chambers and friend evidently enjoyed their new kind of combo.

Kathy Menzia reacted like a typical Senior to a Poly lunch, while David Eckmann gloated at the thought of another year of cafeteria food.

Long Ho offered his milk to Chau Truong, assuring him that every body needs milk.

LUNCH



It all ended up here – or on the lawn.

Todd Davidson needed a double milk to make it through the cafeteria.

This Sophomore seemingly wished himself elsewhere – like Del Taco?

EVENTS

INTERNATIONAL

Egyptian president Anwar Sadat traveled to Israel in November as a gesture of Egyptian friendship. He met with Israeli prime minister Menachem Begin and it was hoped that this journey would help to improve relations between Israel and all Arab nations. However, after a short time the commando raids between the Israelis and the Palistinians resumed. Israeli troops invaded a portion of Lebanon, but later pulled out as troops from the United nations took control of the area.

After many months of heated debate in both the House of Representatives and the Senate, a treaty was passed giving up United States control over the Panama Canal. The treaty states that the U.S. will gradually give over the running of the canal to Panama, ending with a full release by the year 2000. Although the passage of the treaty was greeted with mixed emotions by many Americans, the people of Panama welcomed it with a public holiday and mass celebrations.

In early December an historic exchange of prisoners was arranged between the United States and Mexico. The first shuttle took 35 Mexicans home and then returned with 60 of the Americans. The 175 remaining Americans eligible for exchange to American jails were brought back in several more shifts. Most were paroled within several days of their return.

NATIONAL

Coal miners, members of the United Mine Workers union, struck for 3½ months this year, causing many Eastern home and business heating bills to skyrocket. The miners defied President Carter's threats of forcing them back to work and refused to accept several treaties put before them. However, after going without pay for the duration of the strike, the miners agreed to a contract on March 24 and went back to work.

President Carter's budget director, Burt Lance, resigned in the fall on charges that he was dealing in questionable business practices. He manipulated his bank accounts and therefore became a great handicap to the Carter administration.

Ex-CIA director Richard Helms was convicted of holding back evidence during an investigation of CIA activities in Chile by the Senate. He was sentenced to two years in jail, which was then suspended, and fined $2,000. After the November 4 sentencing, Helms stated that he thought of the conviction "like a badge of honor."

LOCAL

The "Freeway Phantom" was caught on November 11 after a year of rock-throwing incidents. He was declared innocent of charges by insanity.

Circus Vargas, one of only several big-top circuses in the country performed from March 31 to April 3 in Riverside. However, the bleachers were not inspectd by city officials, and one stand collapsed during a performance, injuring several.

The annual Easter Sunrise Service on Mt. Rubidoux was attended by a crowd of 2,500. The guest speaker was Ruth Carter Stapleton, President Carter's evangelist sister.

On March 18, 25,000 people crowded into the Ontario Motor Speedway for "Cal Jam II," an all-day rock concert. Music stars such as Bob Welsh, Ted Nugent, and Aerosmith provided the entertainment.

POLITICS

In the mayoral election, native Riversider Albert C. "Ab" Brown defeated his opponents for the seat left vacant after the retirement of Ben Lewis. The November election results were such that a run-off was scheduled between Brown and city councilman Eric Haley in January. Brown received the majority of votes (52.9%) and was installed as Riverside's new mayor.

A dispute arose over the Riverside Museum's showing of the film Birth of a Nation, involving charges of racism. The city council attended a private screening of the movie, which is about the South just before and after the Civil War, and decided to cancel the showing. But the council later changed its mind and the film was shown.

The most controversial proposition on November's ballot was Proposition B, the growth initiative. It stated that, if passed, the development of apartments and housing tracts would halt until proper school and city services could be proven to be available. However, Riverside's voters rejected the initiative after the very emotional campaign.

Taxpayers voiced their concern over high taxes with Proposition 13 and Proposition 8, an alternative measure to 13, both on the June ballot.

SCHOOL

Elections for Associated Student Body offices followed the annual Poly nominating convention.

The convention was held in April with the theme "I Think This Could Be The Beginning of a Beautiful Friendship." One of the guest speakers was newscaster Jess Marlow of KNBC televsion. Nominations for ASB offices were voted on by delegates. Then the two candidates chosen by the delegates were put on the ballot to be voted on by the student body in a separate election.

A new attendance policy was initiated for the school year. This policy stated that all absences must be cleared with a parent's note or phone call before the time limit of 48 hours. Students 18 years of age were allowed to write their own notes.

A new superintendent of Schools, Mr. Cox, was chosen to replace retiring Supt. Ray Berry.

PERSONALITIES

Great Britain's Princess Anne gave birth to a boy, who does not have a title, on November 16.

After a two year separation, Princess Anne's aunt, Princess Margaret, and her husband, Lord Snowdon, instigated divorce proceedings in May.

Princess Caroline of Monaco announced her engagement to Phillippe Junot; a June wedding was planned.

Singer Elton John played his last live concert this year; however, he will still be recording.

Billy Carter has become a national figure with his famous public speaking events and the production of "Billy Beer."

Patty Hearst, the heiress who was kidnapped and then found guilty of bank robbery went back to Pleasanton prison to serve the remaining 14 months of her jail sentence. The U.S. Supreme Court refused to hear an appeal.

Pop idol Donny Osmond was married this year. The marriage was performed in a Mormon temple.

The city of Los Angeles was one of the cities in the running for the 1984 Olympics, promising a comparatively simple and inexpensive games.

SCIENCE

The alarm that saccharin causes cancer in people was drastically reduced when it was discovered that saccharin is one of the weakest carcinogens known.

A partial eclipse of the sun occurred on October 12, with 47% of the sun's surface covered by the moon.

Scientists in the USDA researched the nutritional value of yogurt and discovered that this dairy product is more nutritious than other milk products.

Last August, NASA's new space shuttle flew its maiden solo trip over Edwards Air Force Base. The flight signified a breakthrough in space flight as the first reusable space craft.

May 3 marked the second annual Sun Day. The day's purpose was to encourage people to use more free solar energy in place of expensive gas and oil.

CULTURE

The King Tut Exhibit from Egypt was housed in the Los Angeles County Museum from February 15 until June 15 . . . Some top selling singles were: "Stayin' Alive," "Just the Way You Are," "You Light Up My Life," and "Nobody Does It Better" . . . Vladimir Horowitz played classical piano at the White House . . . Academy Award winner for the Best Picture was Annie Hall, while Richard Dreyfuss and Diane Keaton won the Best Actor and Best Actress awards, respectively . . . Some best-selling albums were: Saturday Night Fever, The Stranger, Simple Dreams, and Rumours. . . . Poly's drama department produced four plays this year: The Boyfriend, One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest, A Midsummer Night's Dream, and Jesus Christ, Superstar.

WEATHER

The word most characteristic of 1977-78 is "rain." After several years of drought, the rain came in torrents. The drought was officially pronounced ended in January and Riverside was declared an emergency area because of rains in February. The rains brought floods, mudslides, and a chance to tie a record for rainfall with them. However, the temperature rose to 92° on Thanksgiving Day weekend and was in the 100's in May.

The Midwest and the East coast had blizzards and many lesser snow storms all winter, causing Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island to be declared federal emergency areas.

SPORTS

POLY

This year proved once again that Poly's athletic teams are awesome. Many of the teams went to CIF play-offs, in addition to the members who went individually.

COLLEGE

University of Michigan lost the Rose Bowl game to the University of Washington in January. The Heisman Trophy winner was Earl Campbell of the University of Texas. USC beat UCLA in their annual football game.

PROFESSIONAL

Pele, the famous Brazilian soccer player, retired from play in 1977. He came to the United States in order to popularize the sport. Joe Namath also announced his retirement from football, while the Denver Broncos lost the Super Bowl to the Dallas Cowboys. O. J. Simpson was traded from the Buffalo Bills to the San Francisco 49ers. Bill Rodgers won the Boston Marathon with an excellent time of 2 hours, 10 minutes, 13 seconds. Leon Spinks clobbered Mohammed Ali to become the new heavyweight champion. A month after the decision, the World Boxing Council took the title away from Spinks, while the World Boxing Association stayed with the first decision. Bobby Allison won the Daytona 500 in February and Johnny Rutherford won the Long Beach Grand Prix.

Varsity Meets The Challenge

Poly's Football team, led by Head Coach Barry Meier, had a tremendous season for the second consecutive year. Poly's potent offense overran its opponents, executing the veer with perfection. Larry Thomas tormented the opposing defense with his running ability, stretching his yardage gain to 1677 yards. When the running game was stopped, Poly's offense showed its versatility by turning its star quarterback Jack Woodhead loose. Throwing perfect air strikes to his prime targets Bruce Small, Trip Hord, Don Teague, and John Dabney, Woodhead helped put down all defensive uprisings.

When the offense had lapses the defense picked up the slack, putting on tremdous pressure. Led by Dana Mansfield and Steve Mona, Poly's defense crushed any illusions the opposing team had of scoring. Poly's defense scored 7 times for a new school record and gave up a mere 103 points all season. The well-balanced attack of Poly's offense put an impressive 329 on the scoreboard.

Poly's teamwork was only surpassed by its talent, with five men, Trip Hord, Larry Thomas, Steve Clarence, Dana Mansfield, and Steve Mona, winning all-league positions. Larry Thomas and Steve Mona were voted offensive and defensive players of the year. This teamwork and talent devastated the Ivy League, winning a record-setting 11 games, and brought the Poly Bears to the C.I.F. semi-finals.

With its pride and enthusiasm, the football team succeeded not only in generating a winning attitude, but a sky-high school spirit as well. Their winning season and influential pride proved that the 1977-1978 Poly Bears met the "Year of the Challenge" head on.

This year's Freshman football team followed the Varsity team's example by winning the league with a 7-1-1 record. The Bear's offense, led by quarterback Chris Scott and running back Greg Thomas met the opposition and came out on top. The overpowering defense, led by linebackers Chad Corriveau and Mark Marshall, held all opposition to a mere 51 points. Coach Steve Nordeen and his Bears proved once again that Poly Pride is #1.

Cross Country

Poly's Varsity Cross Country team, coached by Gary Hunt, had its best season in over ten years. After losing the season opener to Norco by a score of 15 to 45 (in which the low score wins), the team came back to win its next four meets. These included victories over Poly rivals Ramona and North. The overall record of four wins and three losses put the group in third place in the Ivy League.

Aqua Bears Challenge All

Poly's Aqua Bears splashed off to a more successful water polo season than expected this year. The Bears began the season by winning the Riverside Invitational Tournament, and continued throughout to defeat some of their toughest opponents, including Upland, Servite, and Indio. With these victories they went on to capture the second place title in the Ivy League. From the Ivy League the Bears moved to C.I.F. play where they advanced to the quarter finals, securing the fifth place position. For their outstanding performances, Doug Paulson and Mike Kelson made first and second team all-C.I.F. respectively. With the leadership of Coach Dave Almquist, the Aqua Bears made the 1977-78 season one of the best for Poly.

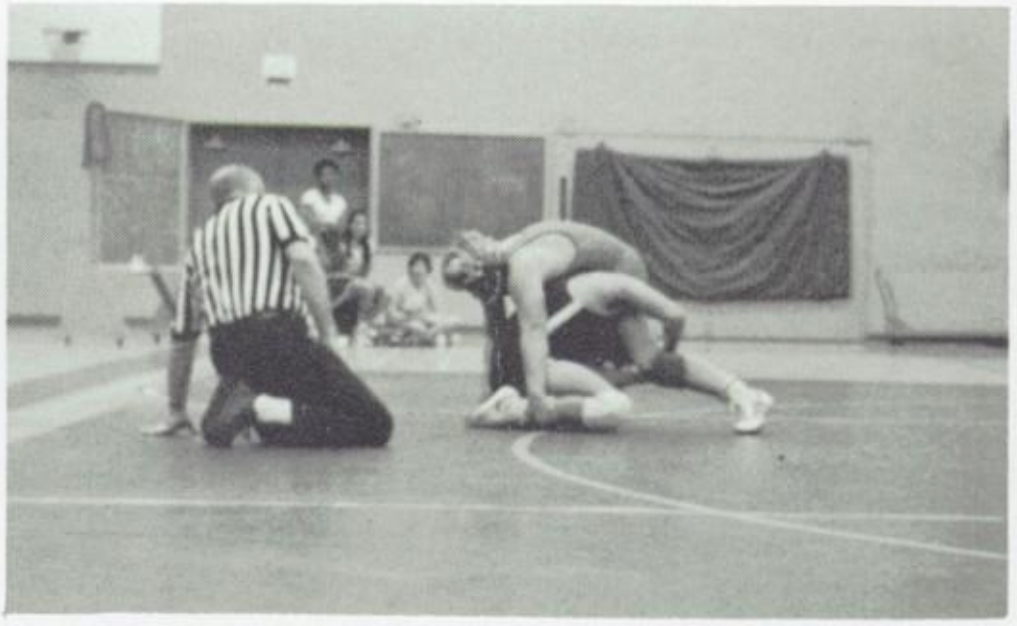
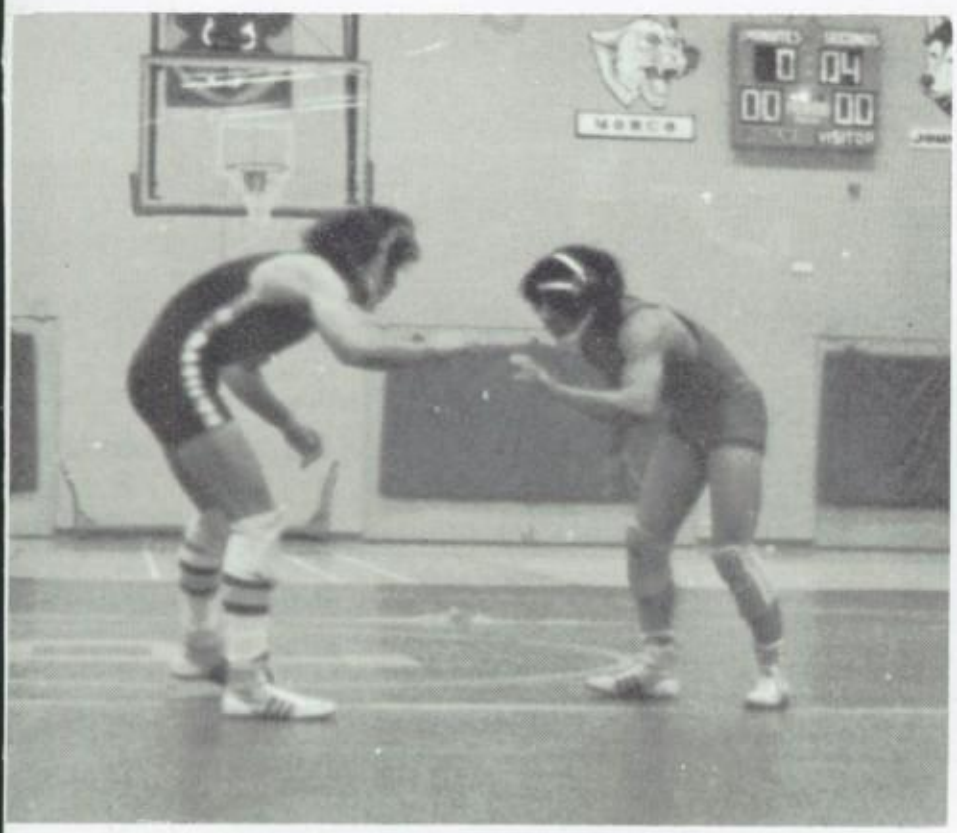
Mike Duffley pinned his opponent, like many others, in a very short time.



Vint Shurtliff controlled this adversary with very little effort.



Dan Cremer eyed a wary opponent.

This year's Wrestling squad lacked participation, so they were unable to compile an outstanding record. Individually, however, the team had excellent talent in Mike Duffley, and captains Tim Gozdecki and Tony Rossetti. With more participation, along with a good deal of talent coming back, next year's team shall be the terror of the Ivy League.

This year's Varsity basketball team, led by Coach Arlo Gard, had a very successful season. Led by leading scorers Scott Clark and Eric Barnett, the Bears captured second place in the Ivy League with a record of 11 wins and 3 losses. The aggressive Bears advanced to C.I.F., defeating Burroughs High, 60-49. In second-round play, the Bears were narrowly defeated by Ganesha, who later emerged as the C.I.F. champion. All in all, the 1977-78 Varsity basketball team had a memorable season.

Scott Clark was one of the Bears' leading scorers.

Robert Leaphart was a strong defensive player.

Ken Overton shot well when the pressure was on.

Dale Hammers was a strong outside shooter.

Todd Davidson and Eric Barnett made a strong offensive team.

The Freshmen team showed that they will be capable of having an excellent Varsity team in the future. The Bears built a record of 14 wins and 6 losses with the help of freshmen Keith McBride, Rodney Gowens, and Dane Teague. With the guidance from Coach Kirkpatrick, the team applied pressure on defense and scoring power on offense. The talented freshmen should be one of the top Ivy League contenders in the years to come.

Jimmy Wight was excellent on defense.

Keith McBride showed his jumping talents.

Rodney Gowens showed his ball handling ability.

The Girls' Varsity volleyball team had a challenging season, competing against many good teams. Though this year's team excelled in individual ability, they had problems working as a team and consequently did not have as successful a season as they had hoped. Jan Clarence, voted to the all-Ivy League first team, and Angela Melander, all-league honorable mention, showed the individual talent within the team. Marie-Jeanne Juilland was chosen as the most improved player. The Jay Vee team had a more successful season with an impressive record of ten wins and four losses. These girls will make a talented Varsity team in the years to come.

Leslie Faucher awaited a possible grounder.

Danna Rasp pitched another fast ball.

Rhonda Streich hit another double.

Rosanna Viveros caught the ball for another easy out.

The Girls' Softball team had a lot of talented players who worked together to bring more pride and victories to their program. Through the hard-working efforts of Coach Tom Tilson and players like Regina Pinkney, Danna Rasp, and Dawn Bruce, they accumulated many victories and brought a greater sense of pride to Poly.

Coach Tilson did well in his first year as softball coach.

Regina Pinkney anticipated catching a fly ball.

Gymnasts Stretch To Success

After a rough season, the Girls' Gymnastics team captured the Ivy League title. With the help of their coach, Pat Snelgrove, the season was a success. Not only did they tie up competition, they also showed off their ability to the whole school in a combined Gymnastics-Dance assembly. With plenty of talent available, hopes are high for next year.

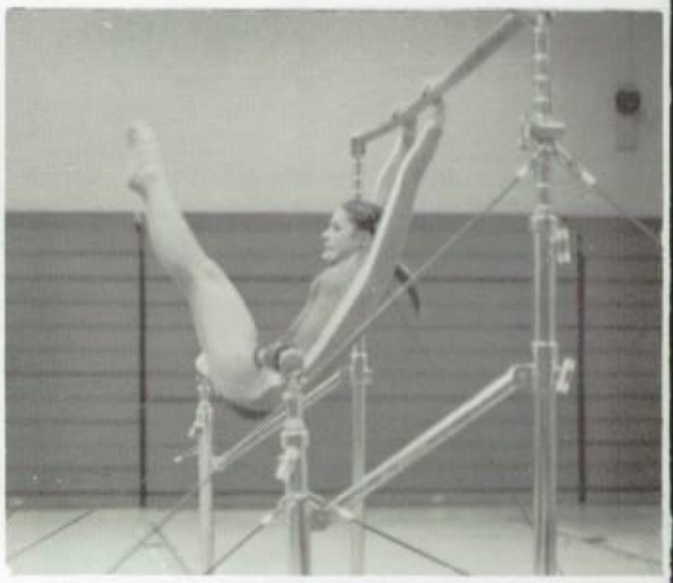
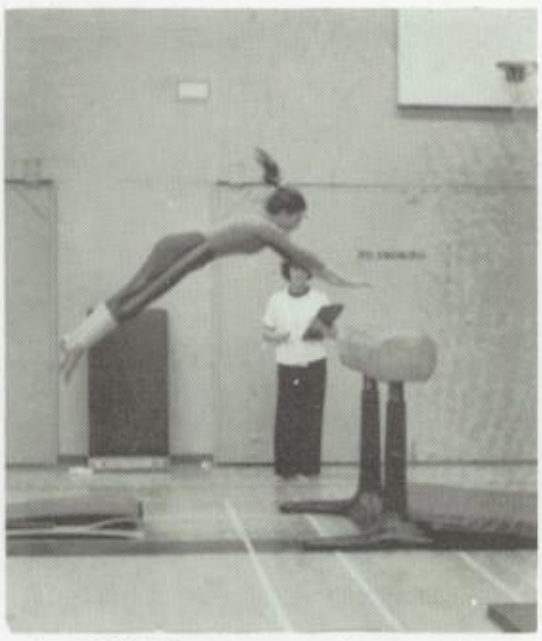
Katie Semones balanced dangerously four feet above the floor on the balance beam.

The asst. coach spent many hours spotting during practice.



Lani Curlee's face expressed the pain which she felt as her body wrapped around the bar.

Kim Eaton followed through from a back walk-over.



Amy Wadding was caught in mid-air going over the vault.

Liz Rines proved that doing a front roll on the beam was not as easy as it seemed.

Girls' Track #1

Front to Back: Casey Raftery, Chet McGaugh, Melissa Rowe, Colleen Asper, Laura Rines, Michele Miller, Jeannie Rust, Yvette Shook, Linda Harding, Mary Jane Flores, Debbie Dalton, Julie Ortman, Cathy Crisman, Kari Smith, Laurie Johnston, Ginger Roeber, Robin Rapp, Laura Lacey, Renee Chambers, Laura Metcalf.

Michele Miller soared for the longest distance possible.

Girls' Track

The 1977-78 girls' track season ended with a bang as they captured the Ivy League Title. Although they tied Norco during the season, they eventually trounced them at the Ivy League play-offs pulling out to become #1.

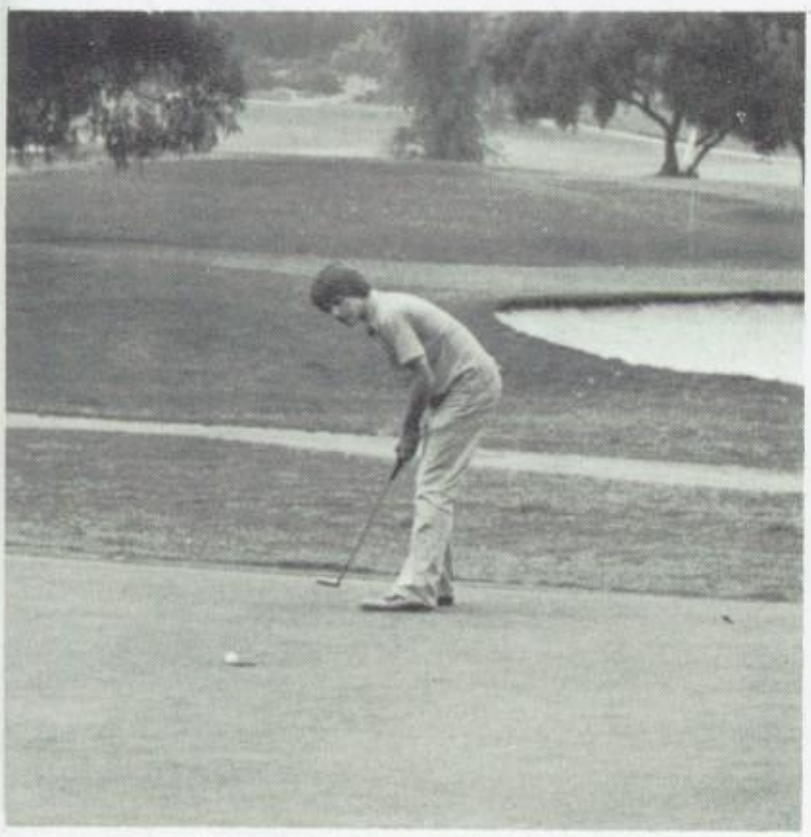
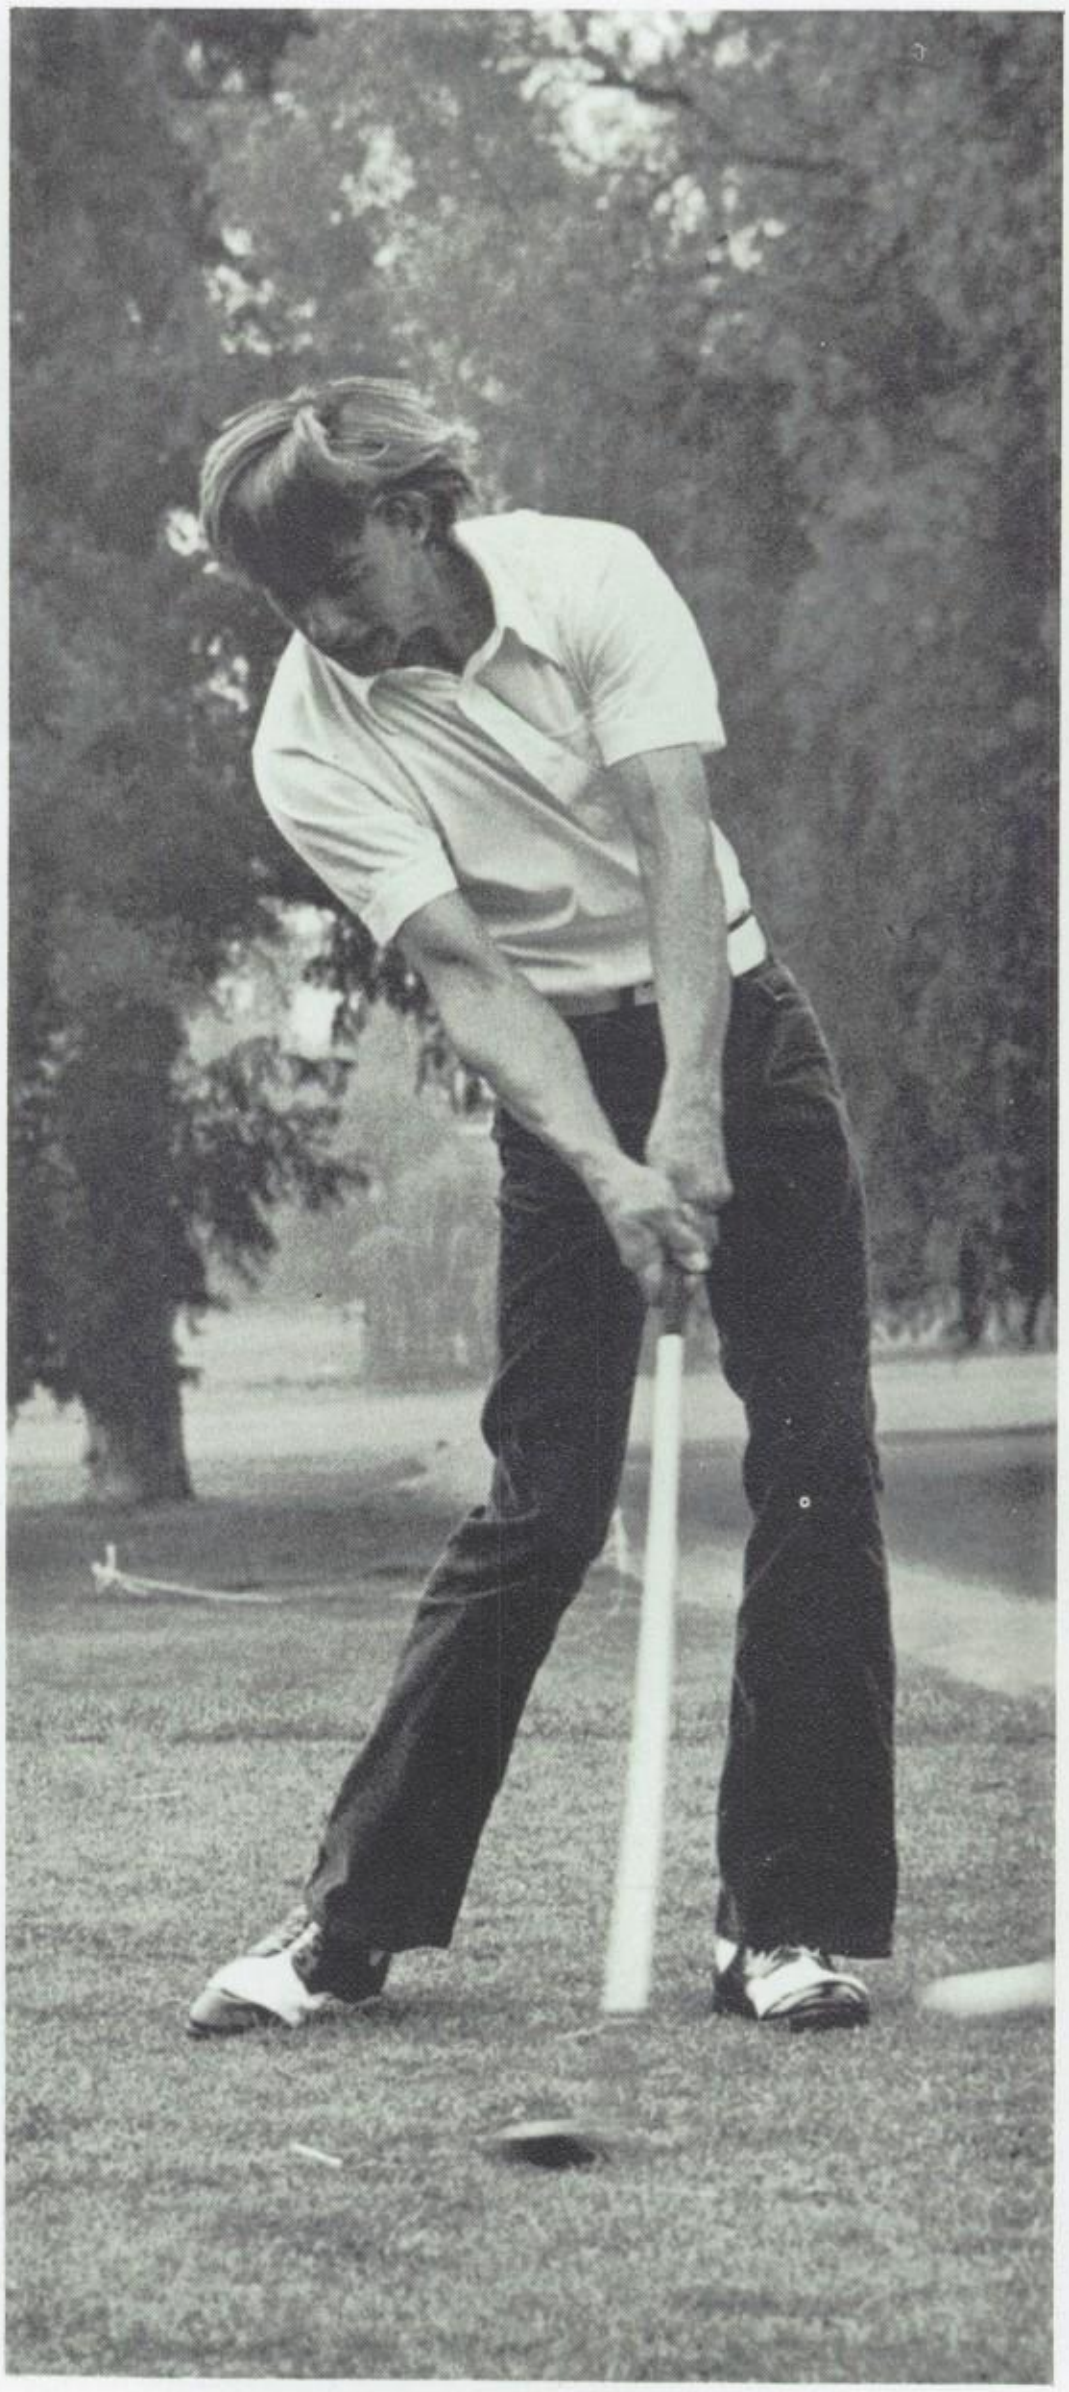
Teammates helped each other line up the putts.

Poly's Golf team dominated its league this season. Led by Seniors Rick Dooley, Jamie Grigsby, Mike Huiras, and Sophomore Geoff Holzrichter, Poly hit precision shots bringing them home with their fine putts.



Richard Dooley went for the pin.



#1 Jamie Grigsby gave Johnny Miller something to worry about.

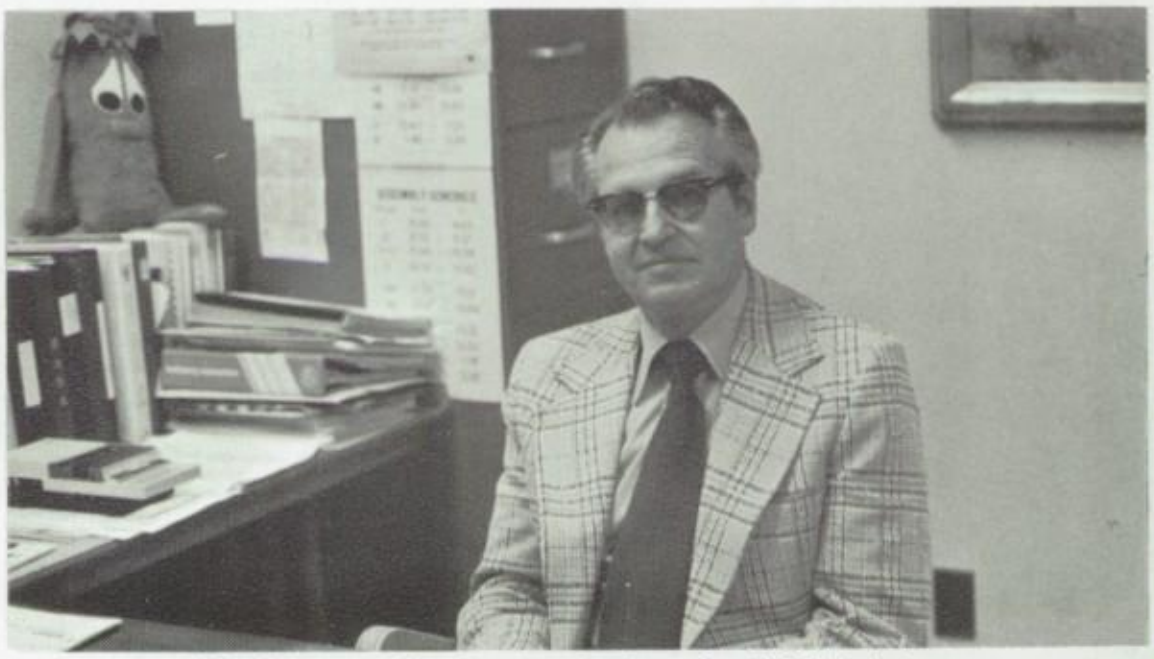
FACULTY

To Lead Is Often To Suffer

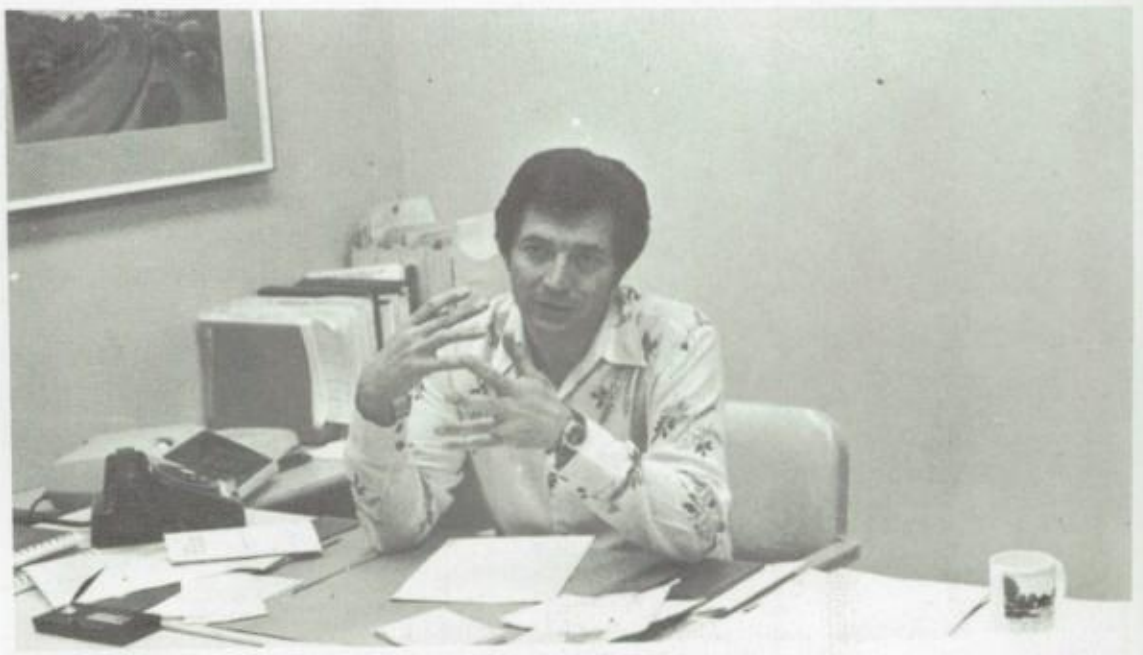
Few of us realize either the importance or difficulty of the administrator's job. Principal Rile, in his second year at Poly, and vice-principals Tew and Ficarra are in charge of an administration which at times was caught between the occasionally conflicting interests of the students, teachers, and school district. But despite the pressure, the administration was able to reconcile the differences it was faced with. At first one may have trouble defining the reasons for the administration's success. With further inspection, however, we may conclude that of the greatest importance is our administrators' amazing capacity for maintaining Poly and coordinating the efforts toward our common goal, education.

On this year's Board of Education were, seated: Mrs. Bailor; Mrs. Frost, President; Mrs. Rawdon, Clerk. Standing: Dr. Wright, Mr. Barry, Superintendent; and Dr. Ransom, Vice-President.

Mr. Rile rested for a moment at his unusually clean desk.



Mr. Tew reacted to the thought of another KOALA picture.



Mr. Ficarra explained why Italians speak with their hands.

Administrators Prove That

Mr. Roberts took a moment to relax between riots.

The secretaries of the attendance office were Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Horne, Mrs. Meredith, and Mrs. Leaphart.

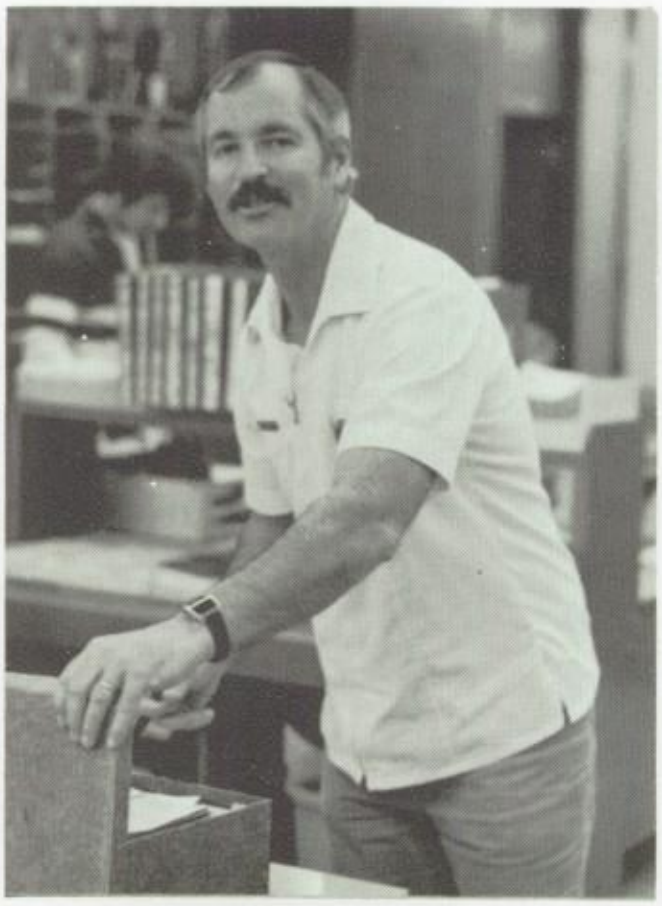
Mrs. Clarence was caught trying to steal a convention poster.

The chief of the attendance office, Mr. Mitsch called up to check on a student's imaginative story.

The secretaries of the main office were Mrs. Gabriel, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Citarella, Mrs. Wilkin, and Mr. DuPont, bookkeeper.

They Lessened The Pain

This year's administrative staff was, as usual, kept busy helping students derive as much as possible from high school. The counselors: Mr. Harris, Mrs. Varnell, Mrs. Gregg, Mrs. Sutton, Dr. Pleas and Miss Kortendick, advised students throughout the year. Nurse Adelson kept students in shape, while Mr. Hawkins and other administrative aides kept students in line. Mrs. Clyde and Mrs. Rath maintained the peaceful environment of our library, while our other resources were kept at hand by Mr. Wood and Mrs. Kreigh. We must also give credit to the counseling and nurse secretaries, who kept the administration staff organized.



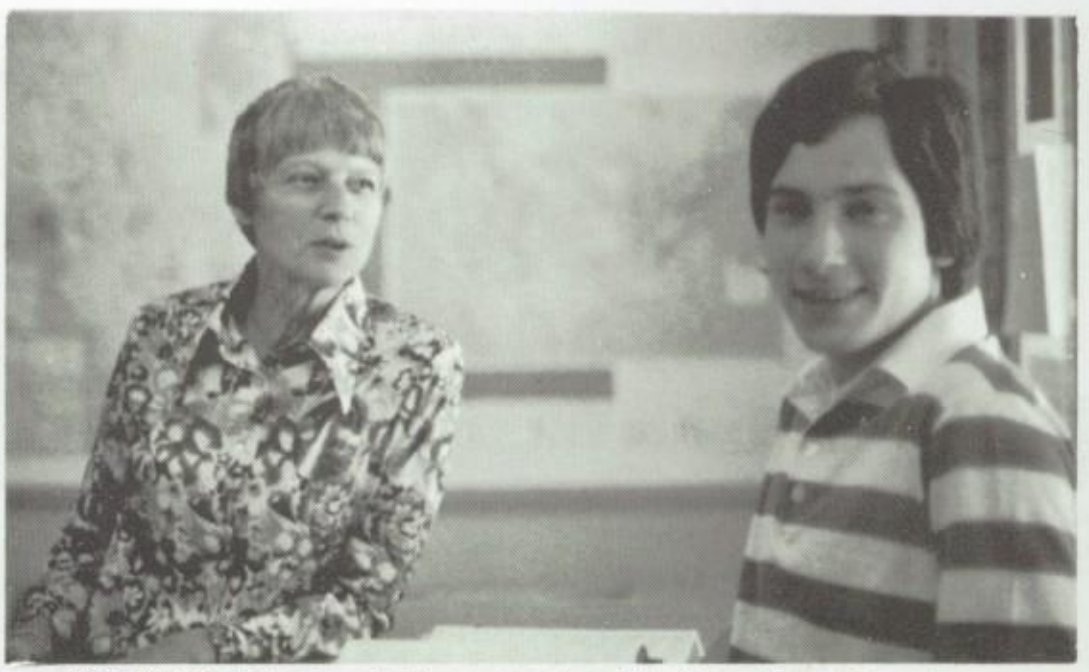
Mr. Harris looked up as he searched through his extensive student file.

Students learned to marvel at both sides of Mrs. Varnell.

Mrs. Gregg could solve any problem with a smile.

Mrs. Sutton's smile exhibited her always helpful attitude.

Dr. Pleas managed to keep her smile, despite constant plaguing by frantic Freshmen.



Miss Kortendick counseled many confused Senior souls, guiding them to prosperous futures.

Of Education

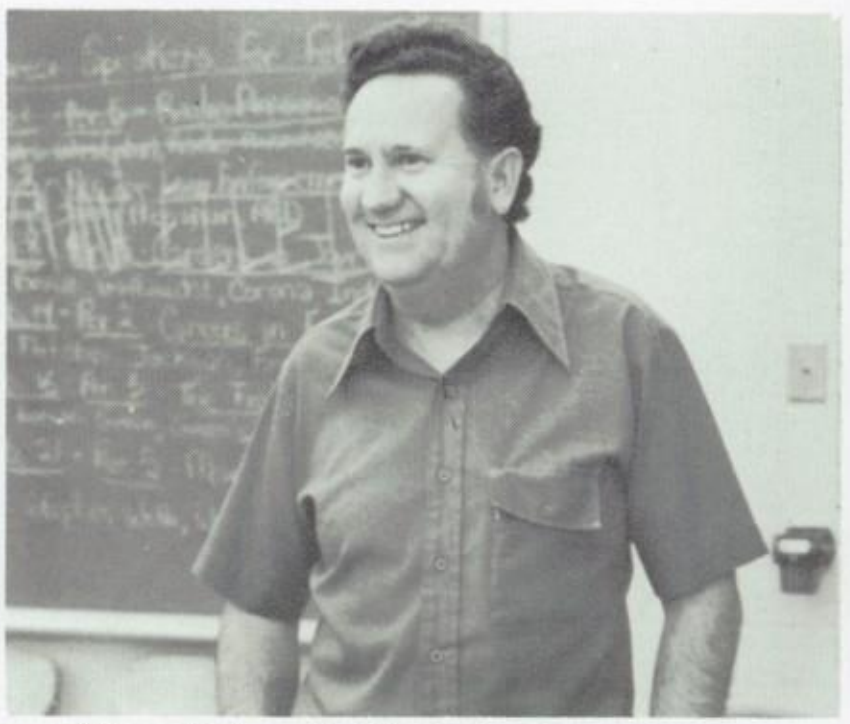
At least one student figured out the easy way to obatin a medical excuse from Nurse Adelson.

Jim "Hawkeye" Hawkins practiced his self-defense techniques on an unsuspecting Polyite.

Mrs. Rath and Mrs. Clyde, librarians, displayed the sunny dispositions they were famous for.

Mrs. Kreigh displayed Poly's resources with an unusual amount of pride.

Counseling secretaries, Mrs. Coogan and Mrs. Paulin, along with nurse's secretary, Mrs. Guirado, paused for a bit of fresh air from their confining office habitat.



With a patriotic smile, Mr. Wood upheld both national and Poly Pride.

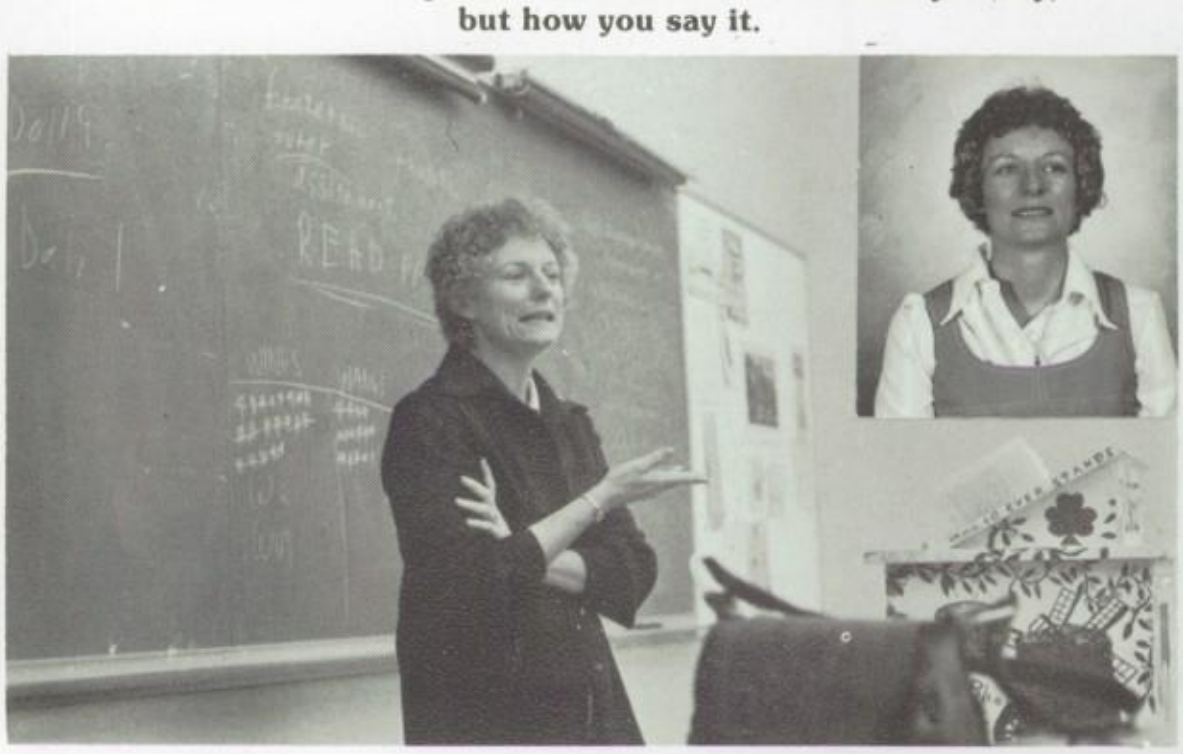
They "Torture One Poor Word

This year, our English teachers could not keep their minds on English. Mr. Bell enjoyed gardening as well as various cultural events. Mrs. Pope preferred an indoor sport, square dancing, while Mr. Raymer and Mr. Berg could be found golfing in their spare time. Mrs. Vennekotter worked to improve her photography skills, and Mr. Rice collected antiques. Roughing it were Miss Elwell, who liked to take her camper to the beach, and Ms. Richards, who found refuge from school at her ranch. Mrs. Pfeiffer's leisure time in volved being a teaching consultant for the Inland Area Writing Project, while Mrs. Theobald simply enjoyed reading a book. Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Roberts, and Mrs. Herring were involved in school publications as advisors to KOALA, BEAR TRACKS, and SPOTLIGHT, respectively. In addition to her SPOTLIGHT work Mrs. Herring, along with Mrs. Gillespie, perfected her method of avoiding the KOALA camera. Also noteworthy were the members of Poly's special education department, Mrs. Rhodes, Mr. Lucero, and Mrs. Fenech, whose work was greatly appreciated.

By the end of the year, Miss Elwell's freshman English class had taken its toll.

Mr. Rice proved that no one is too old for Halloween festivities.

Mrs. Theobald explained that often it's not what you say, but how you say it.



This box is reserved for Mrs. Herring, Mrs. Gillespie, and Mrs. Wood, all of whom tactfully avoided the KOALA camera.

Mrs. Roberts looked over the creative material submitted to BEAR TRACKS.

Ten Thousand Ways" – Dryden

After a dramatic reading, Mr. Raymer modestly accepted the applause of his students.

Mrs. Fenech and one of her students took a moment from their work to find a good book.

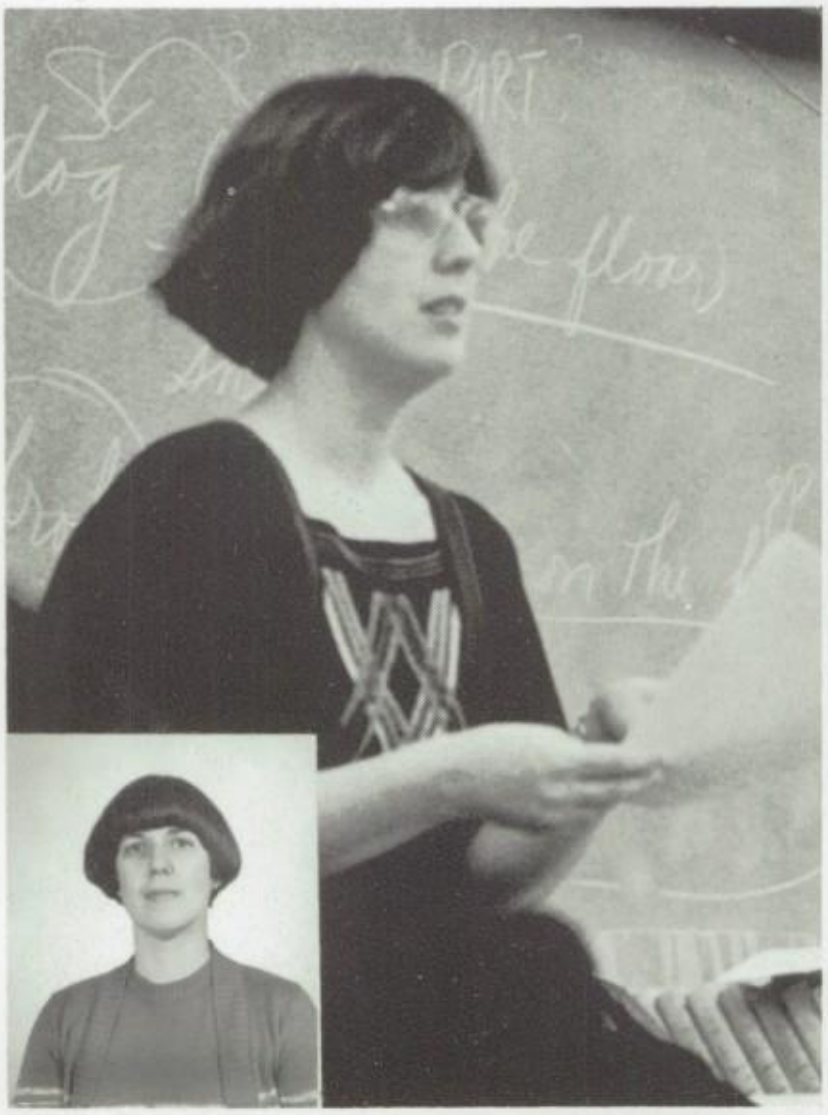
Mrs. Pfeiffer smiled in disbelief as she listened to another student's poor excuse for being tardy.

This space is set aside for Mrs. Rhodes who would have nothing to do with KOALA.

Mrs. Pope smiled reassuringly to a student who was beginning to realize the necessity of adjectives and adverbs.

Mrs. Bishop had many occasions to enjoy the superior work of the KOALA Faculty Staff.

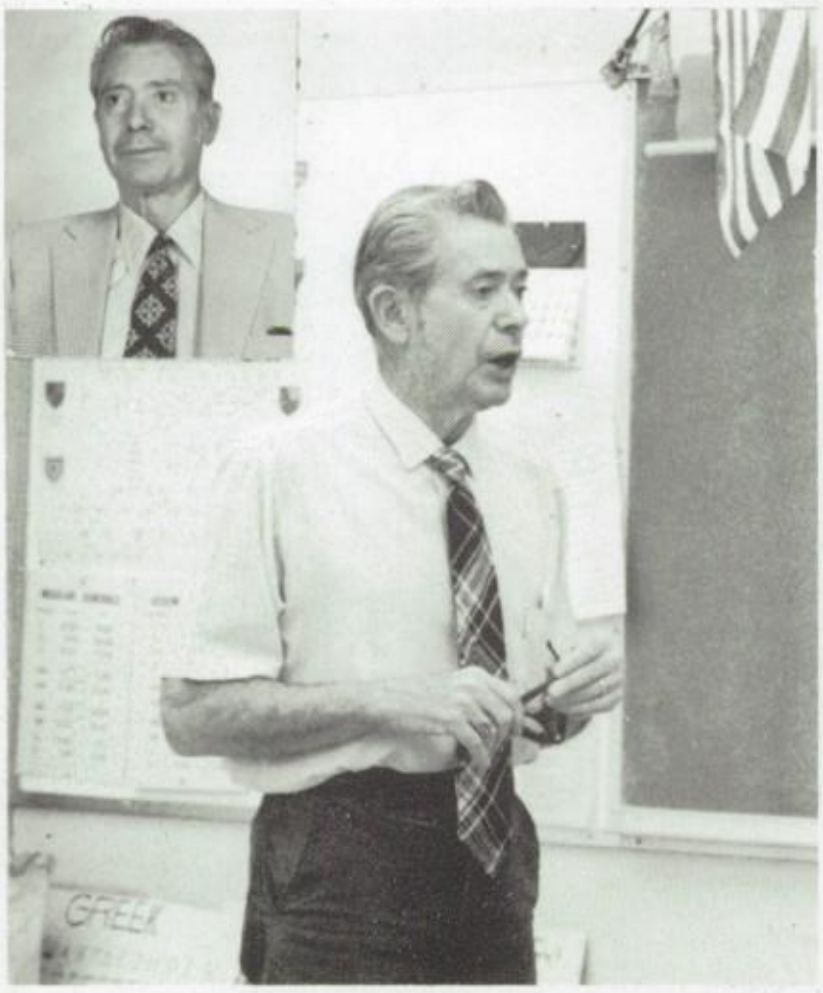
They Teach Us To Read,



During her first year at Poly, Mrs. Vennekotter wondered why she left Ramona.

Mr. Lucero displayed unusual pride when he read about himself in an edition of Who's Who.

Mr. Berg smiled as he successfully stapled two papers together.



William Bell III, in his last year at Poly, often explained that even knotheads should be specific.

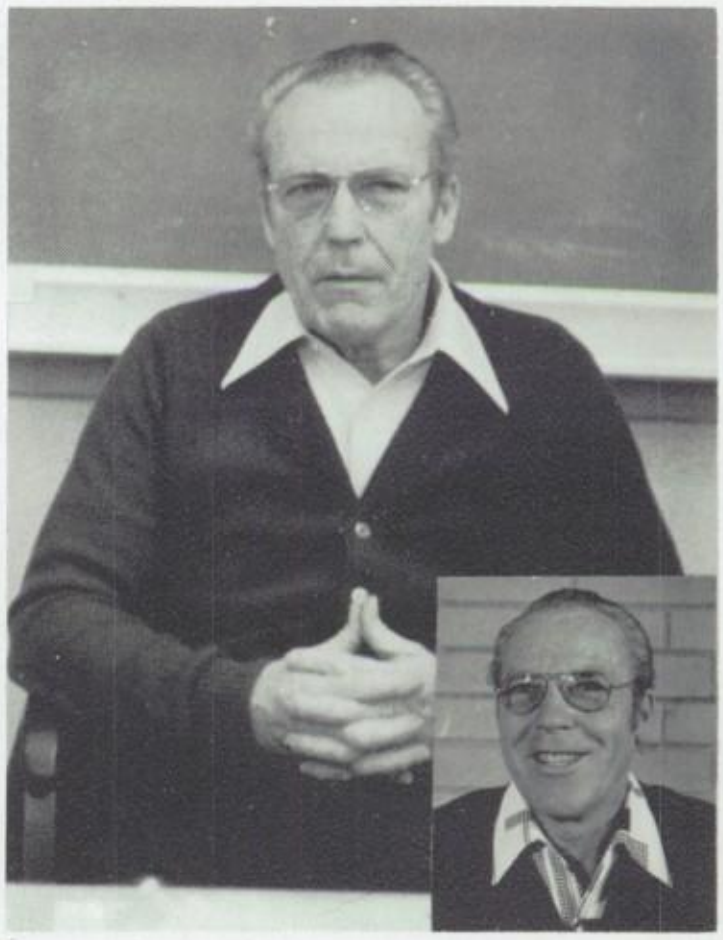
With perfect logic, Ms. Richards proved the connection between backgammon and Forensics.

Write, . . . And Type

On the left, Mrs. Rowe demonstrated her business-like approach to passing out papers. Mr. Young, on the right, became acquainted with his new students.

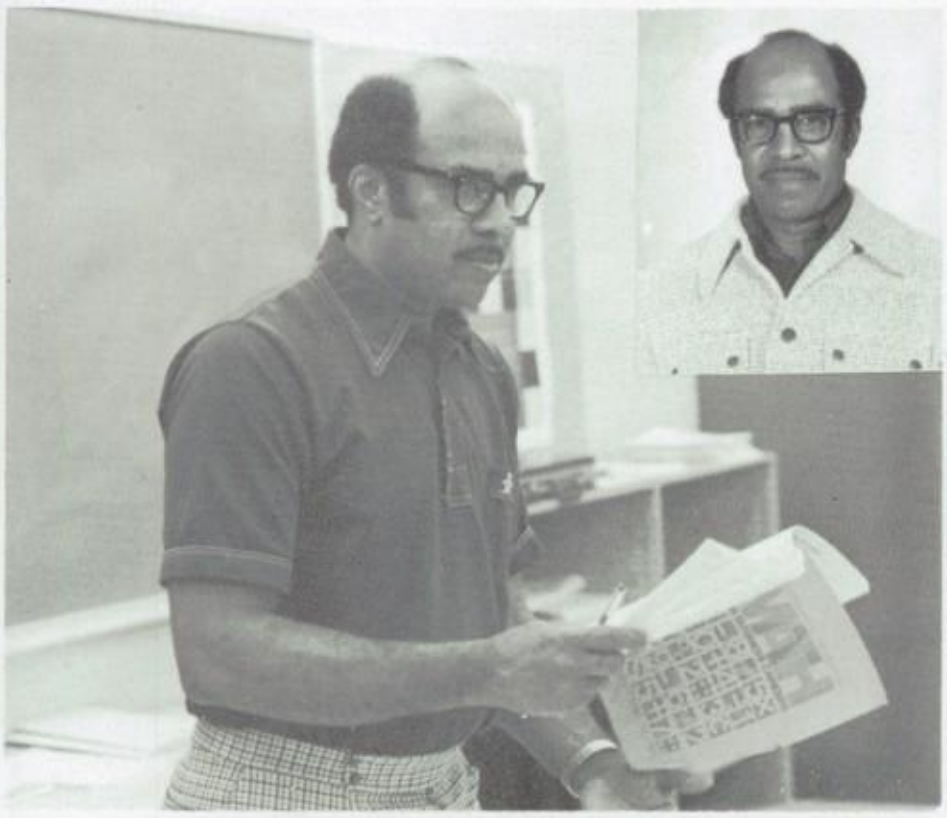
On one of our sunnier days, Mrs. Bennett liberated her class from the pressure of typing.

The members of this year's business department participated in numerous activities while fulfilling their responsibilities as teachers. Miss Smith found time to play golf and tennis and at the same time supervise the Work Experience program. In addition to attending a multitude of athletic events, Mr. Overton found opportunities to bowl and play golf. Gardening, reading, and knitting monopolized Mrs. Rowe's spare time. Mr. Young, on the other hand, who replaced Mrs. Rowe during the second semester, preferred golf and volleyball. Mrs. Bennett pursued the unusual hobby of dirt-bike riding, while Mr. Beckley, the head of the business department, spent his weekends doing woodworking and camping.



Mr.Beckley rested his fingers from a rigorous day of typing.

Miss Smith kept an eye on one of her diligent Work Experience students.

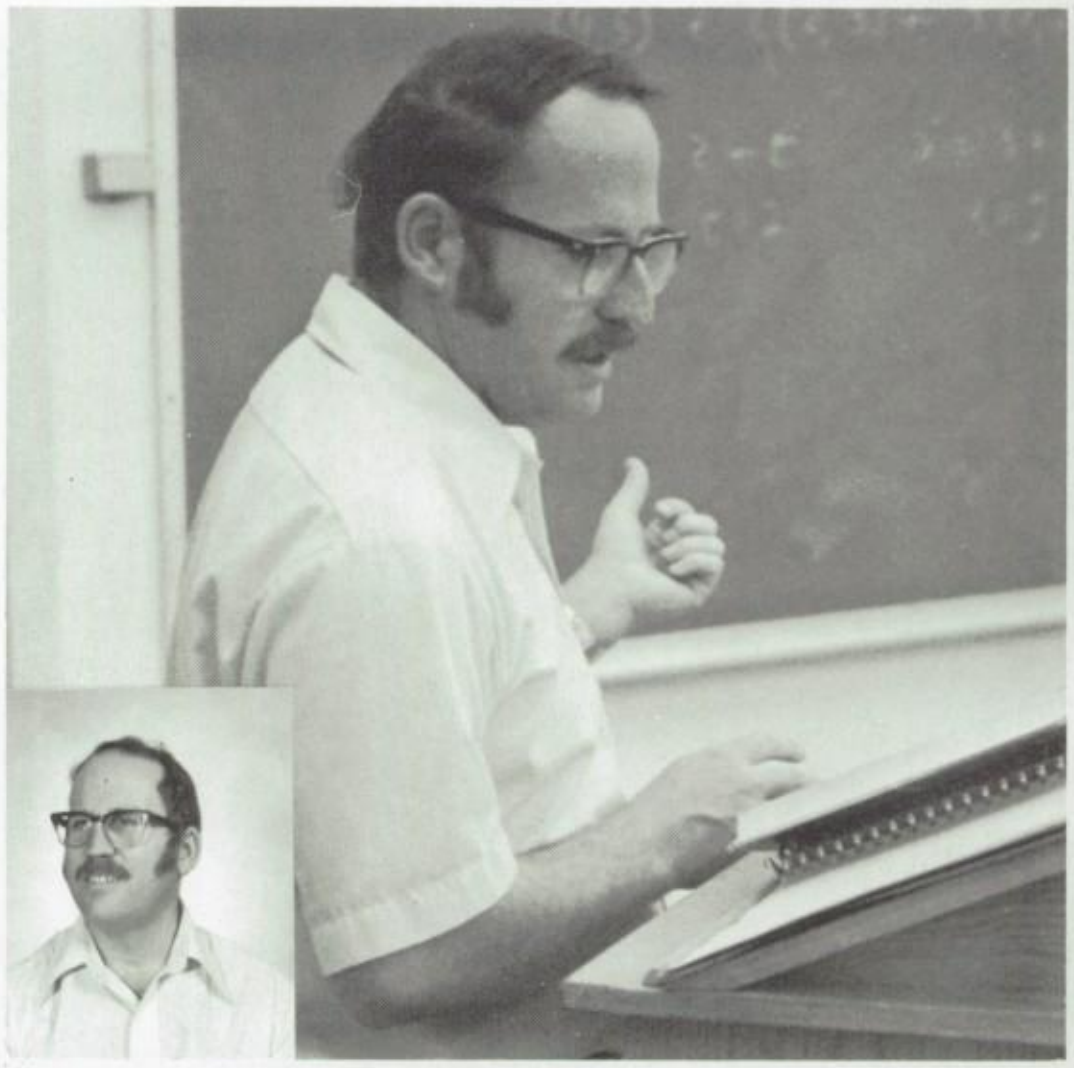


Mr. Overton carefully calculated his next move in Business Math.

Mathematicians Never Fail To Co

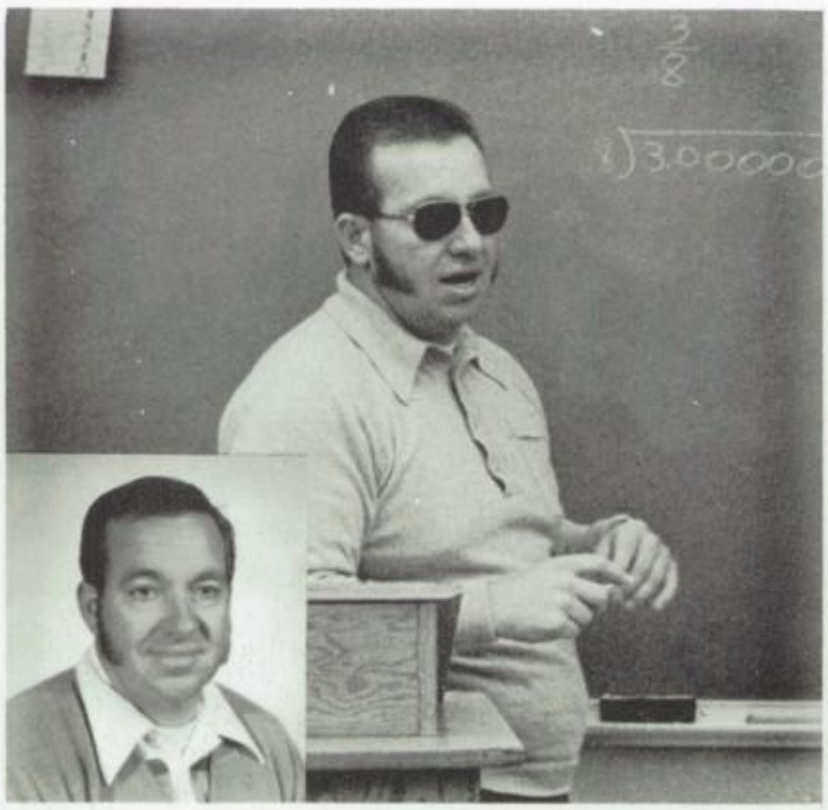
As the school year ended, Poly's math teachers once again stacked our books in the cupboards to collect dust during the summer. We can marvel at the diverse interests they have shown in addition to their remarkable mathematical abilities. Mr. Sage rid himself of his algebra students for the year and anticipated the start of summer football training, as Mr. Zervas looked back at the baseball season. Upperclassmen will never forget Mr. Hodges' SAT review course, and Mr. Camp's driving instruction was highly valued by underclassmen. Mr. Maurer assumed leadership of Poly's track team, and Mr. Bigbee was indispensible as a ticket-taker at basketball games. Mr. Wrentmore, as athletic director, supervised the various athletic activities at Poly, while Mrs. Ashe coordinated the math department. In another display of executive ability, Mrs. Sabine presided over the Riverside Federation of Teachers.

Mrs. Ashe grinned as she surprised a student with a last minute quiz.



Mr. Hodges banished a student for forgetting to "engage mind before putting mouth in gear."

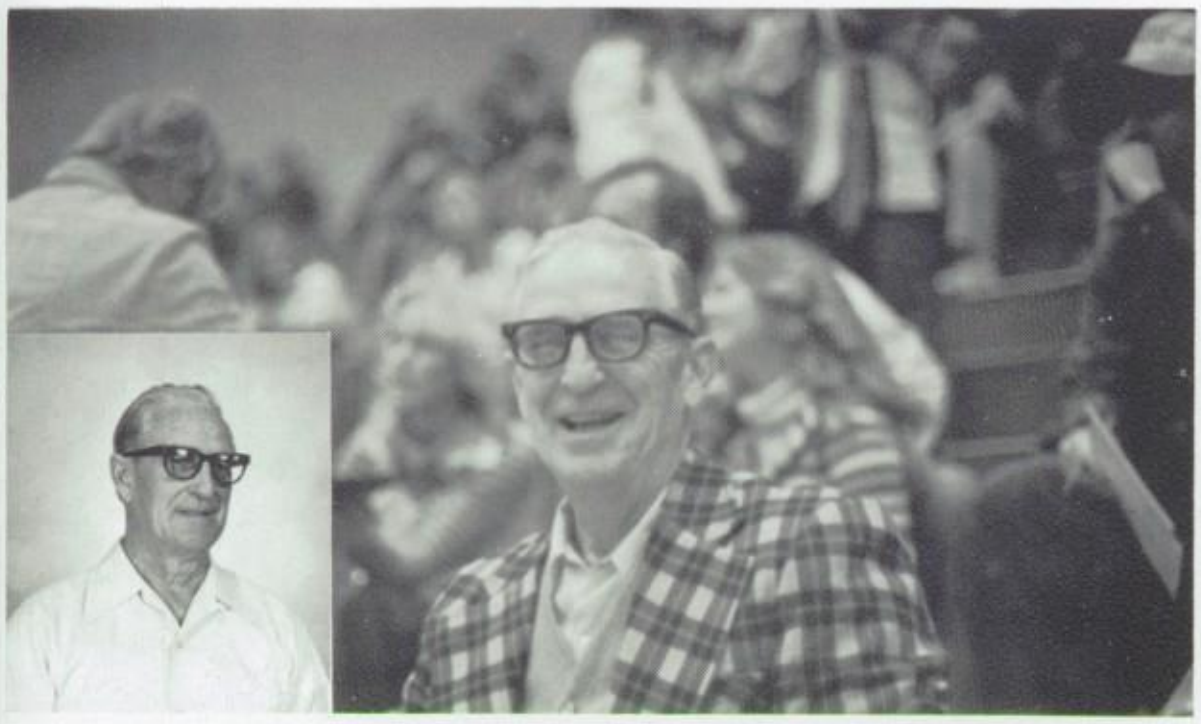
This space is dedicated to Mrs. Millhouse, whose temporary teaching assignment at Poly was appreciated.



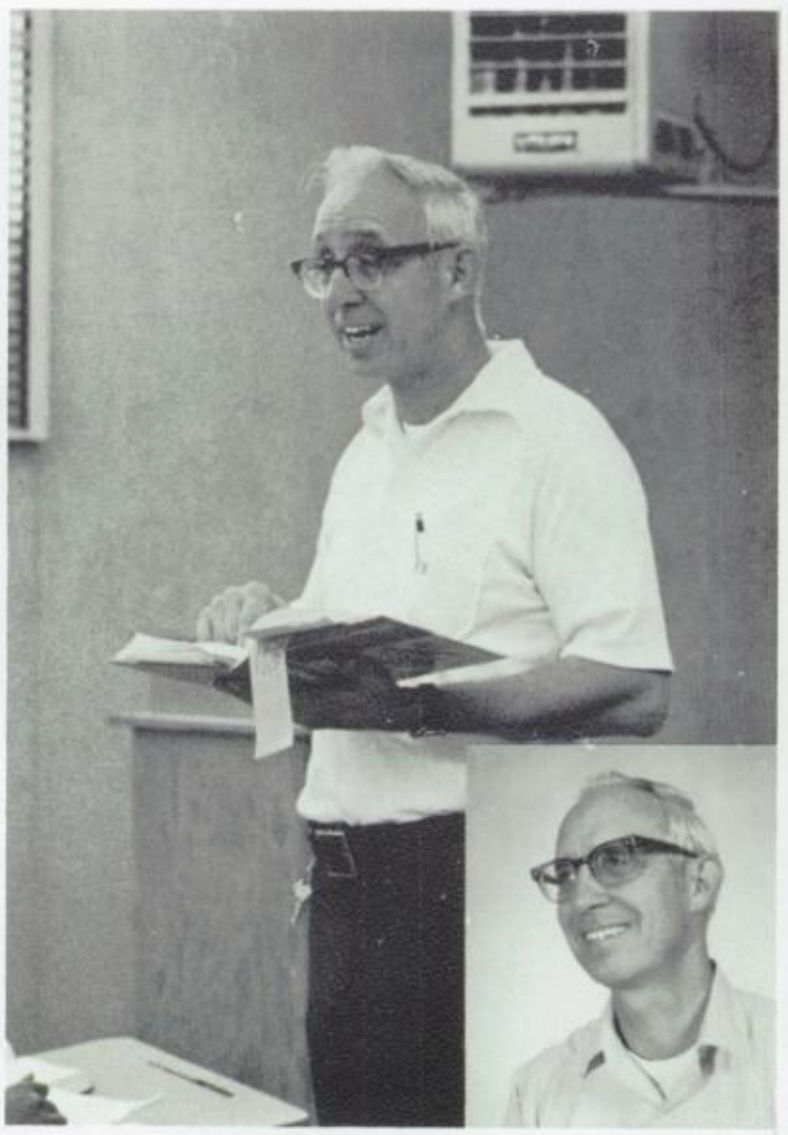
Mr. Sage went about his favorite pasttime, "match-making."

Mr. Bigbee could not conceal his affection for the KOALA camera.

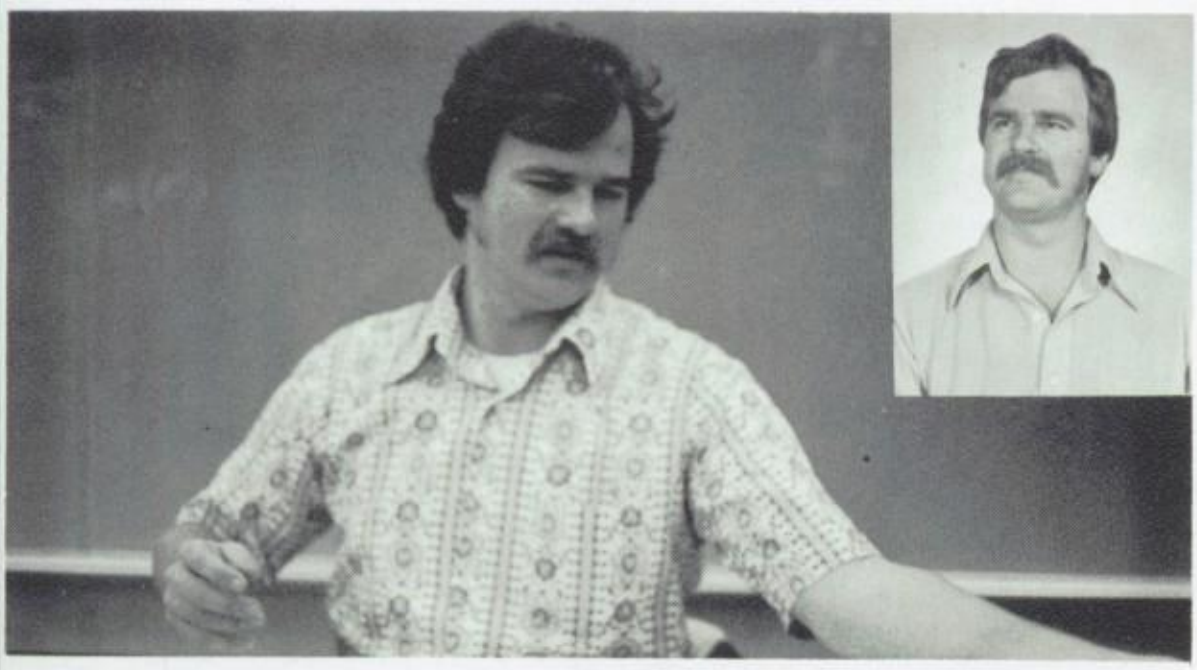
mplicate The Simplest Arithmetic



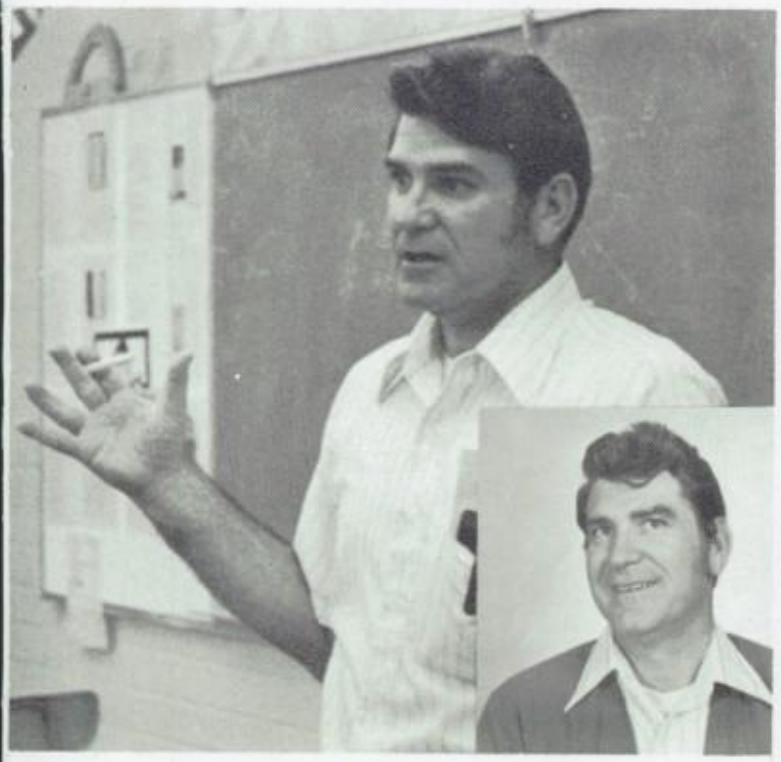
Mr. Wrentmore smiled at the frequent mistakes of Poly's basketball opponents.



Mr. Zervas added an unusual twist to algebra by singing to his students.



Mr. Maurer reached for his own practical application of mathematics, the "random person selector."



With a determined look, Mr. Camp told his class, "Y'all quiet down now, ya'hear?"

Mrs. Sabine appeared confused by a student's unconventional logic.

They Whip Up Our Hunger

Mrs. Van Camp could not believe that a student would actually work instead of go skiing.

The teachers of this year's Home Economics and Language departments taught their students to cook and to speak in a variety of languages. At the same time, Mrs. Frost, Mrs. Van Camp, Mr. Vergeront, and Mrs. Norton enjoyed such vigorous activities as racquetball, skiing, fishing, and hiking, respectively. Mr. Leuenberger pursued his hobby of woodworking, while Miss Schulze travelled when she had the opportunity. Mrs. Pope liked to hunt for antiques, and Mr. Gomez preferred to play dance music. Mr. Cummings explained that his interest in homemade bread was responsible for his one thousand calories a day diet.

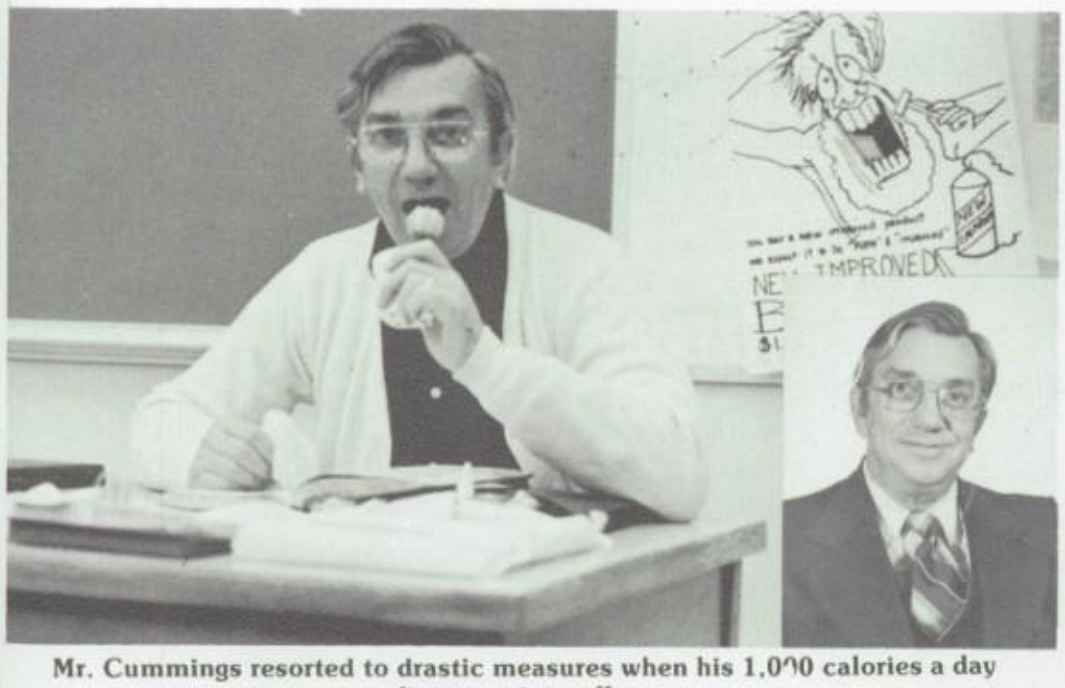
Mrs. Pope told her students that"a stitch in time, saves nine".

Mrs. Graham's students attempted to discover what next week's cooking recipe would be.

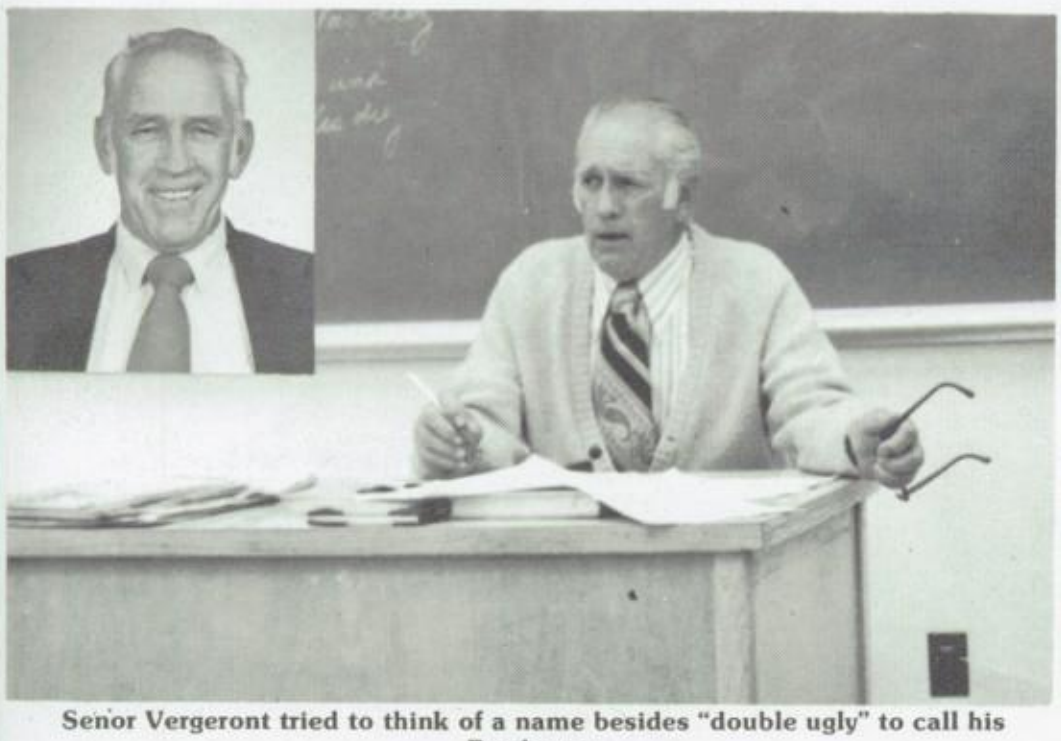
Mrs. Frost realized the hardships of being a teacher when confronted with Tim Sutherland.

Mr. Leuenberger obviously enjoyed correcting Spanish papers.

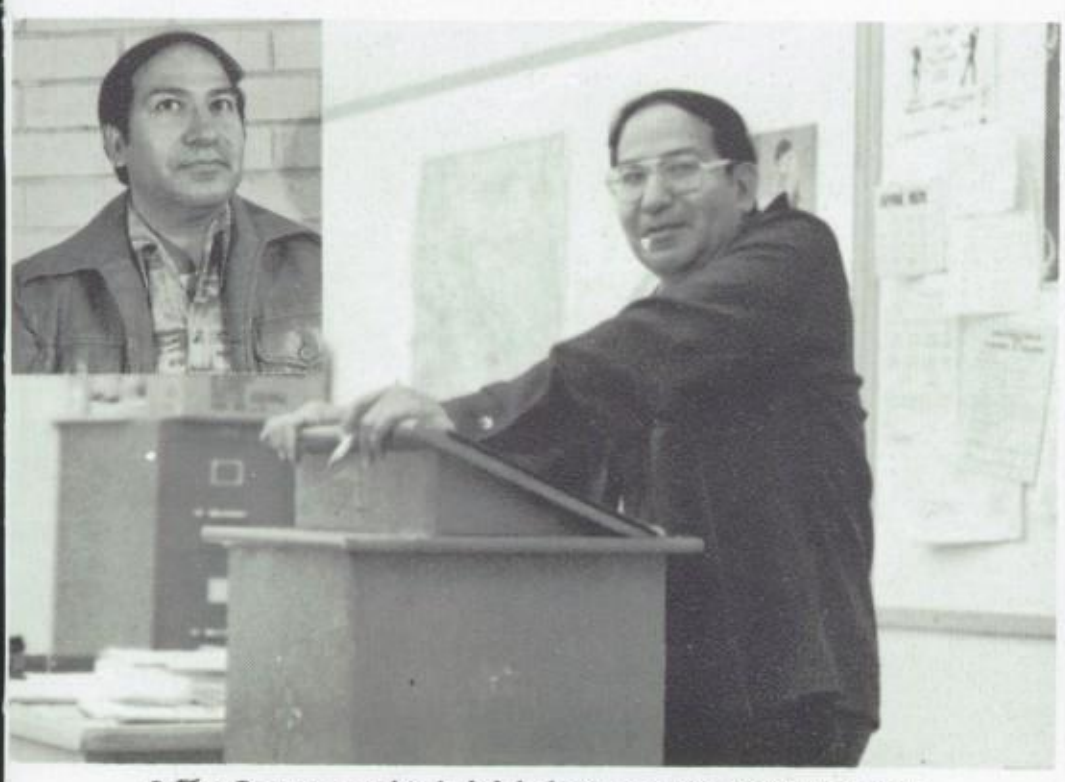
For Foreign Language



Mr. Cummings resorted to drastic measures when his 1,000 calories a day diet went into effect.



Senor Vergeront tried to think of a name besides "double ugly" to call his Freshmen.



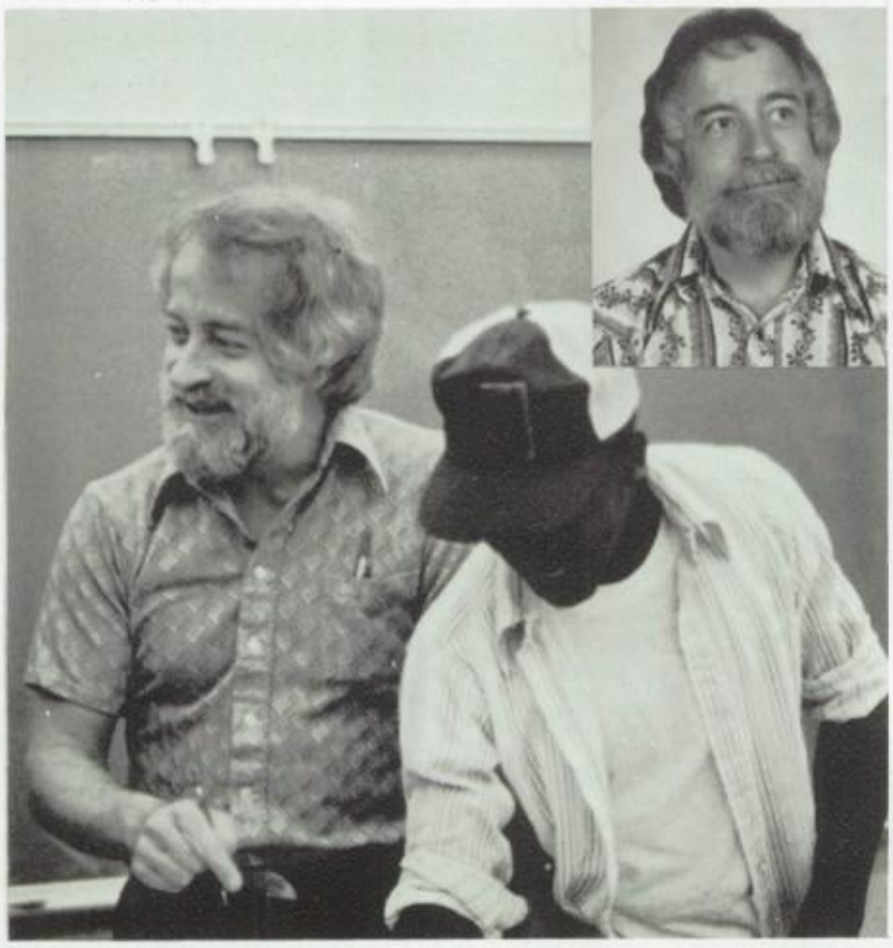
Señor Gomez cast his baleful glare upon the KOALA camera.

Miss Schulze had to hold on to her book when one of her students actually pronounced an entire sentence correctly.

Mrs. Norton laughed at the way her students twisted the French I anguage.

They Effervesce

This year, the members of the science department found the unnatural formula for breaking the law of education which bound them to their classes. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. James escaped the amoeba chaos of their classrooms by developing their highly cultivated interests of gourmet cooking and butterfly collecting, respectively. Another biology teacher, Mrs. Mills, enjoyed swimming, while Mr. Nordeen could be found above the water — surfing. One of Mr. Handen's favorite diversions was backpacking, a hobby which allowed him to pursue an interest in astronomy he shares with Mr. Rungo. Representing the physical sciences were Mr. Hemker, who enjoyed camping and hiking, and Mr. Ringwald, the chemistry instructor who spent his spare time in scientific observation of a biology experiment which resulted in the birth of his son in November.

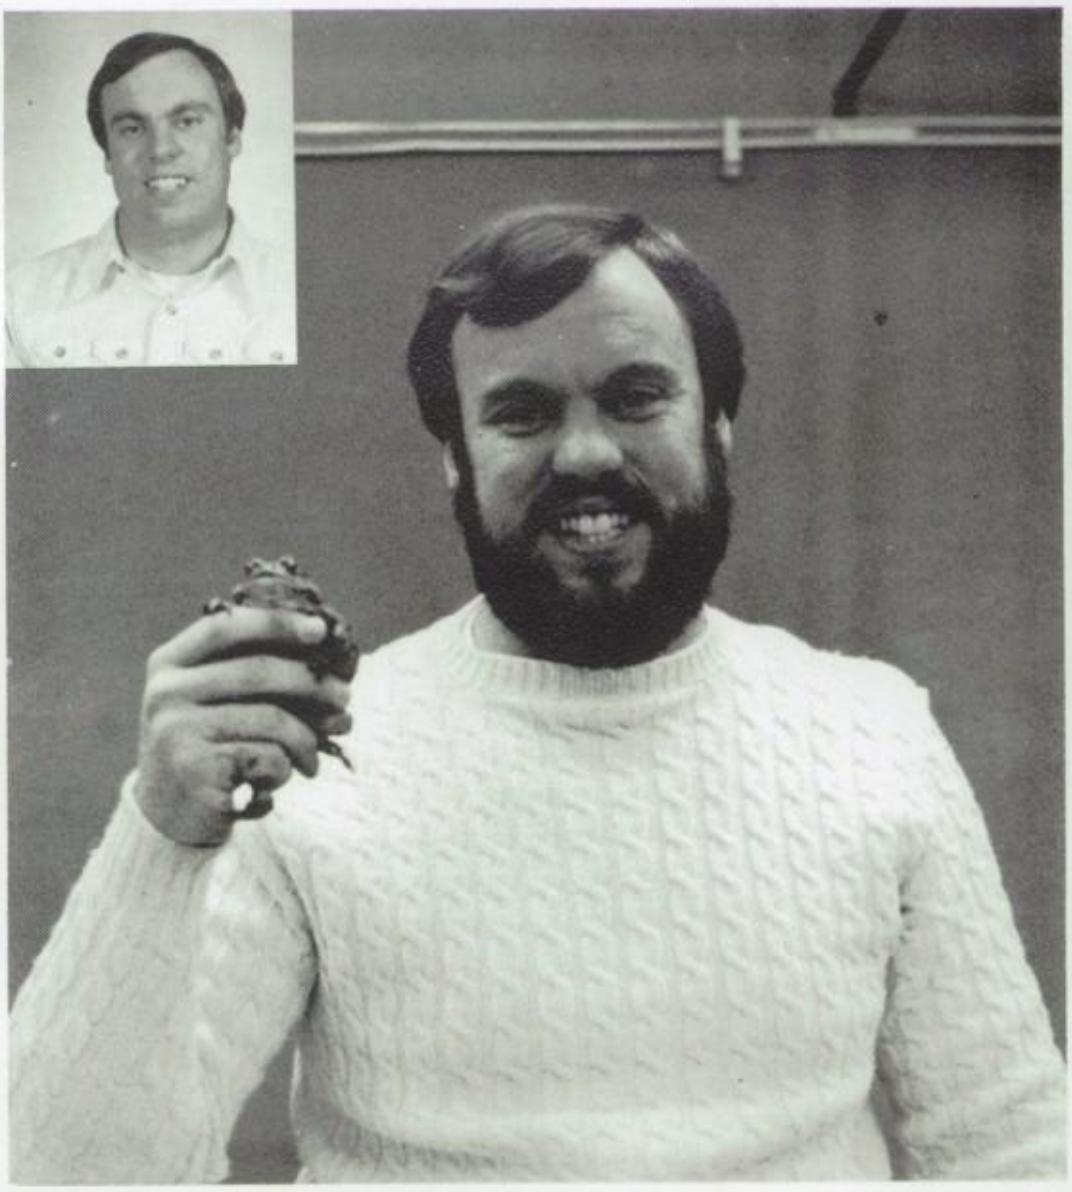


A student explained the validity of his unique solution to the skeptical Mr. Handen.

Mr. Rungo grinned as he listened to a student's futile plea for justice.

Mrs. Mills searched for lively things to do.

Mr. Nordeen and his favorite student posed for a picture.



With Scientific Curiosity

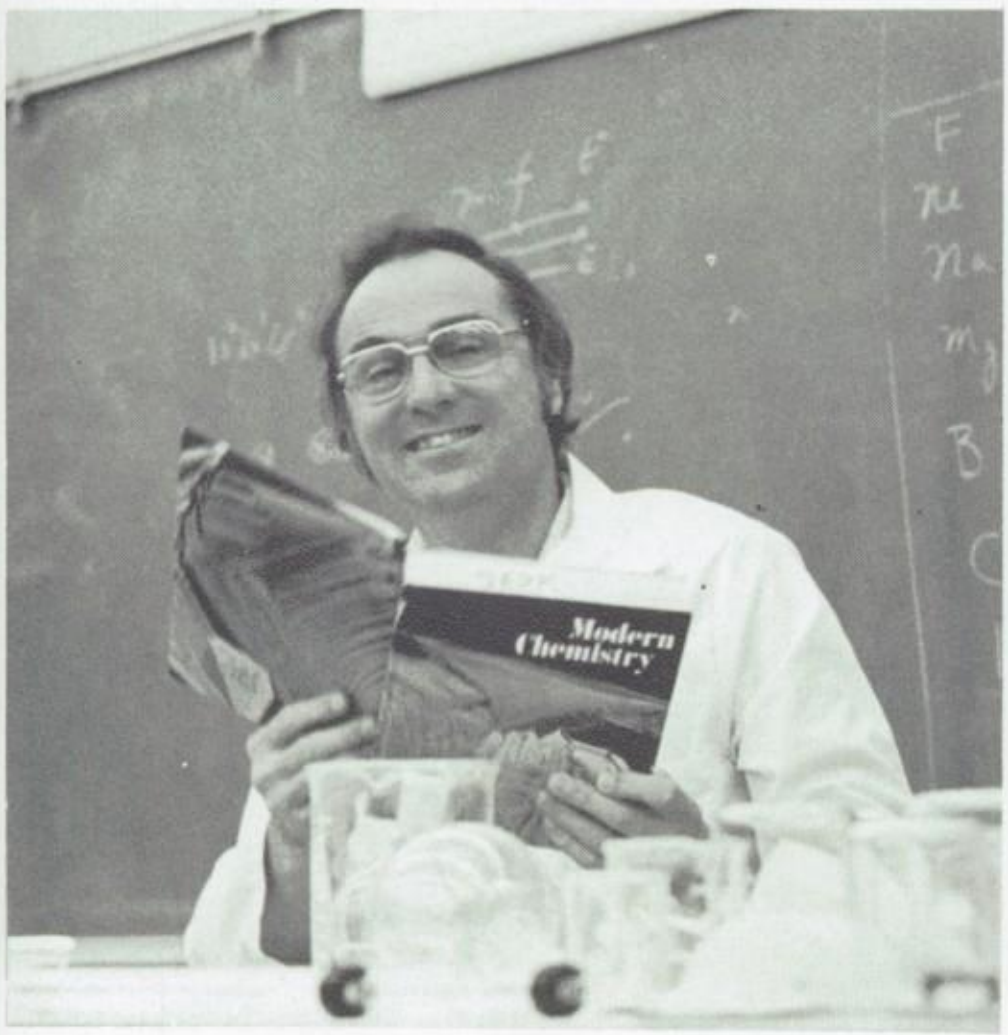
Mr. Hemker showed Brian Bartlett how to use a simple calculator.

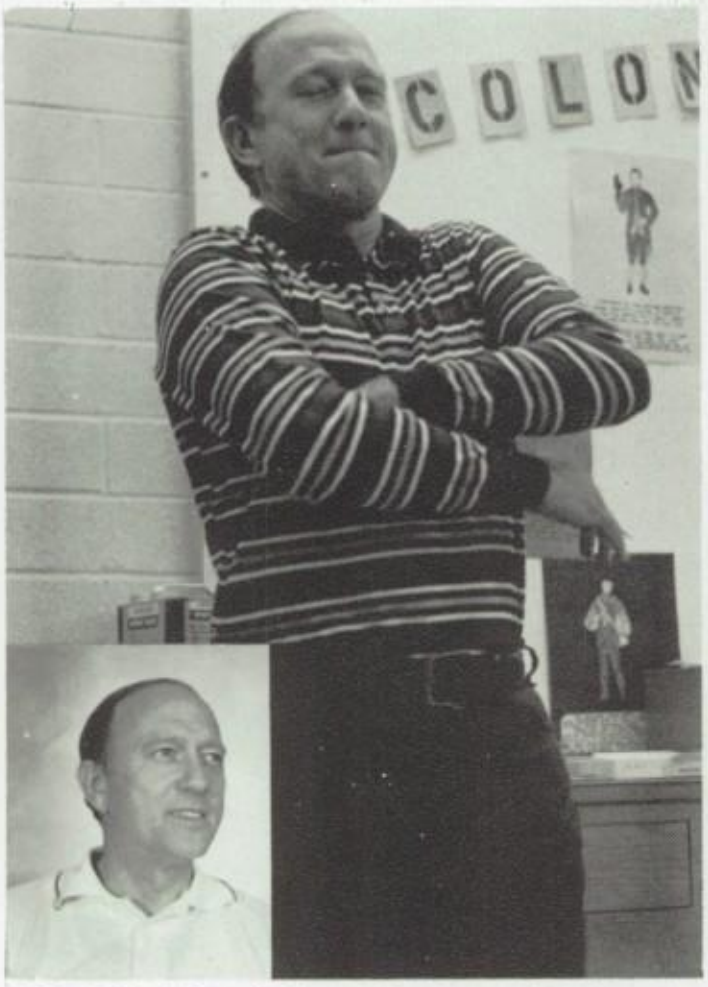


Mr. Ringwald was living proof that some people found chemistry interesting.

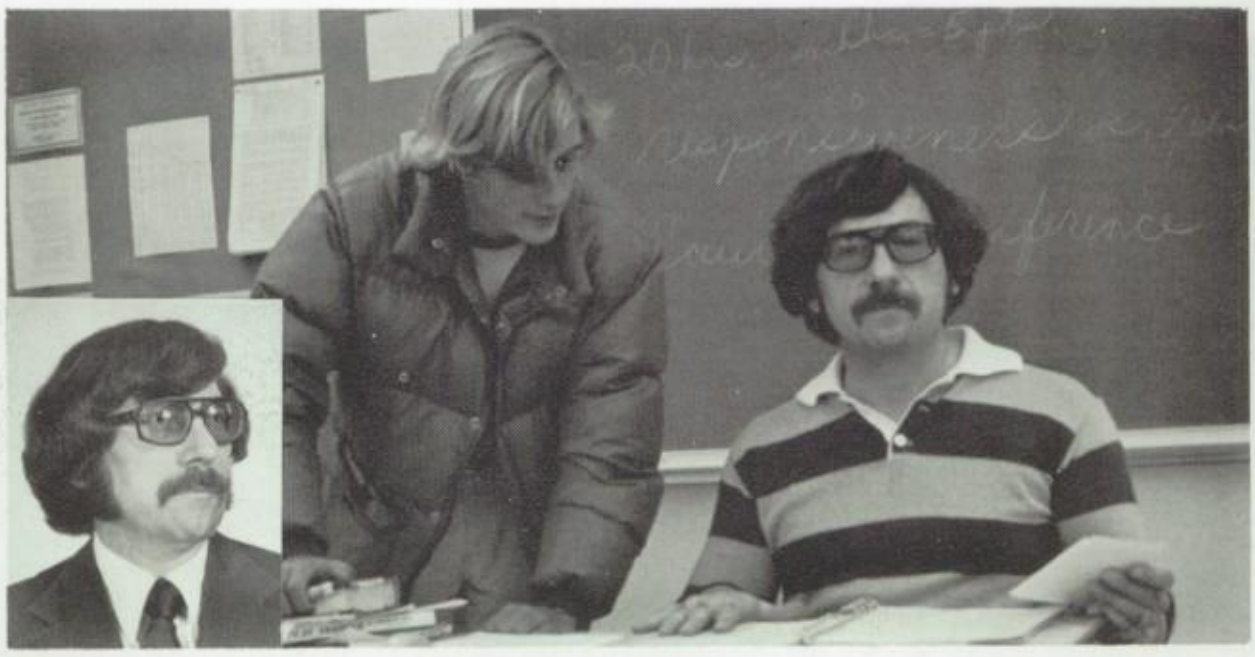
A biology class of Mrs. Jones observed the strange effects of formaldehyde.

They Inspire Enthusiasm in

The members of the social studies department proved that while notwithstanding their commitment to education they were capable of enjoying themselves. Mr. Jenkins moonlighted as a disc jockey for KUCR. Having recently moved, Ms. Leggett used her spare time to redecorate her new home, while exotic travel appealed to Mrs. Thometz. Among the athletic members of this department were Mr. Tilson, who coached soccer, and Mrs. Krup, who found karate an invaluable defense against her students. The inseparable Mr. Miller and Mr. Davidson often teamed up on the green to play a few holes of golf. Mr. Sartini improved his handball game, while the newest social studies teacher,Mr. Buehler worked steadily at improving his rugby. Head of the department, Mr. Eaton, tried all aspects of sports by coaching, participating, and spectating.

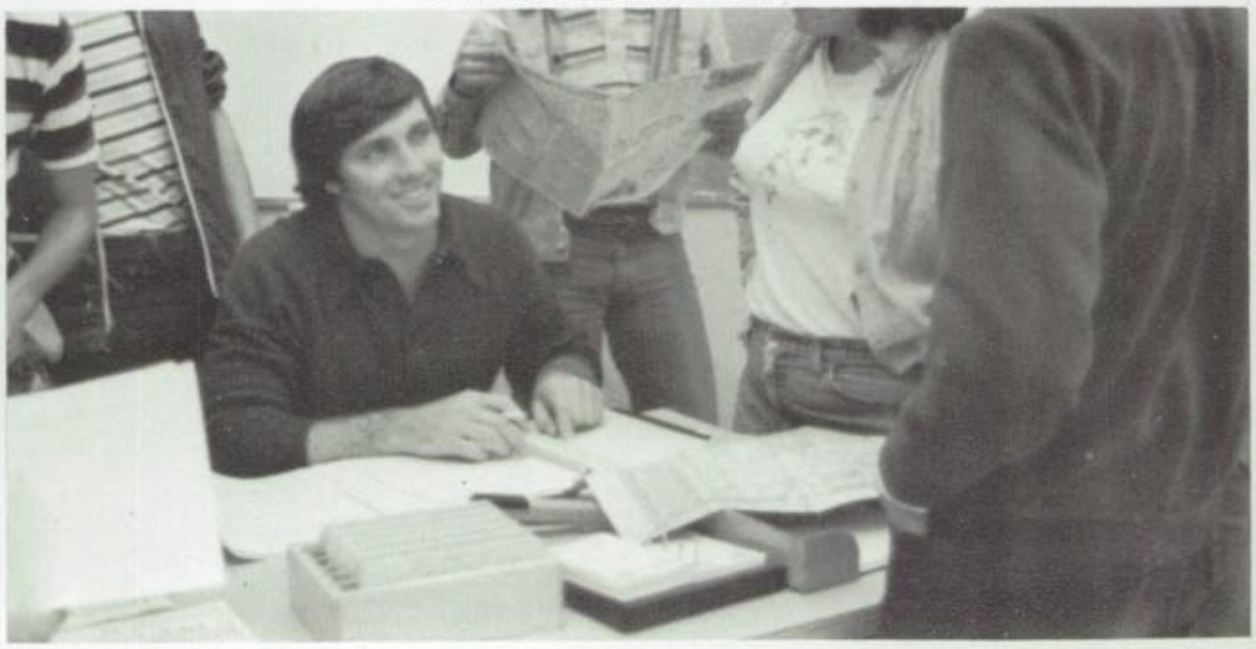


Mr. Miller defiantly claimed that he would hold his breath until he turned blue, or until his history class grasped the meaning of the word "analogy."



With a look of frustration, Mr. Sartini accepted another late paper.

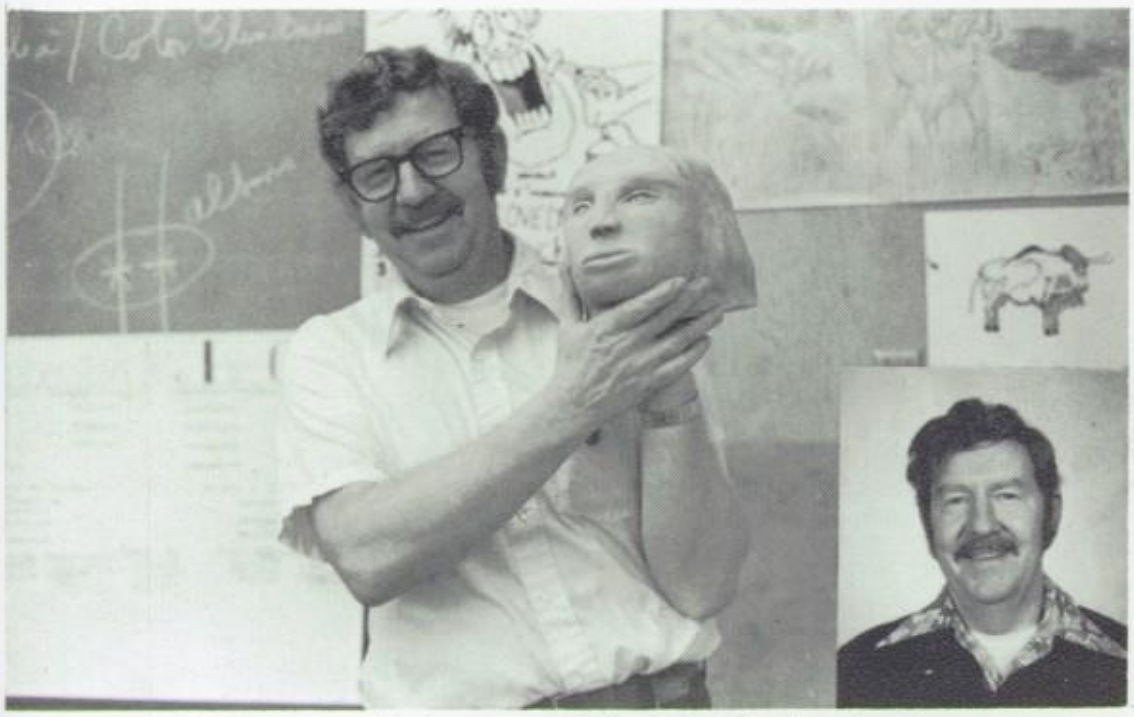
Good rapport with his students was one of Mr.Buehler's main objectives while teaching Youth and the Law.



Mr. Jenkins held his own, as Dana Mansfield threatened to use physical violence in a debate over a test score.

Mr. Tilson growled, "What did you say about soccer?"

The Social Sciences



Mr. Eaton eagerly demonstrated the belief that "two heads are better than one."

Embarrassed due to her contemporary wall decorations, Mrs. Krup shied away from the KOALA photographer.

Mr. Davidson demonstrated his unique skills with a 19th century invention, the typewriter.

"Teaching all these government classes makes me weak in the knees," stated Mrs. Thometz.

Ms. Leggett directed her steely-eyed glare toward all those males in her class who did not support the ERA.

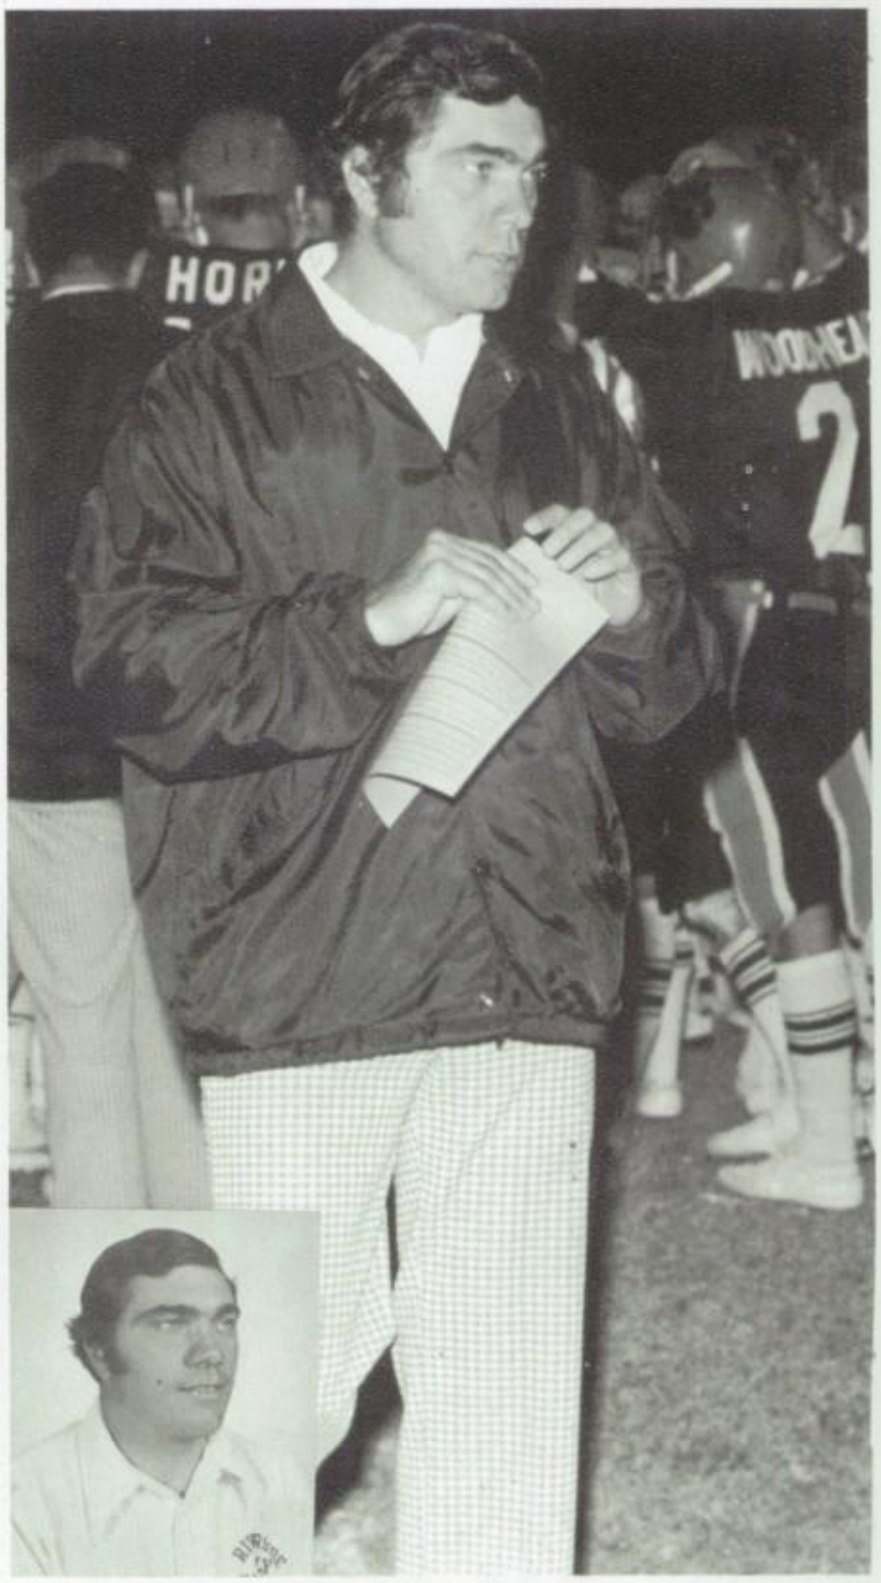
They Are All

Having kept us in shape throughout the year, the year's Physical Education teachers also enjoyed keeping themselves in top condition. Many of the teachers fished, including Mrs. Spawr, Coach Graves, and Coach Almquist, who felt it compared to playing Water Polo. Mrs. Hart liked to dance away the hours while Coach Halle spent time with his grown children. Mrs. Stricker enjoyed skiing, while Mrs. Snelgrove could be found camping or hiking. In, perhaps the most unusual hobby, Coach Meier observed the peculiarities of Coach Berg.

Mrs. Stricker urged her swimmers to win the race.

Coach Halle showed Scott Clark the technique for getting an "A" in P.E.

Mrs. Spawr enjoyed showing her skills as a softball player.



Coach Meier apprehensively awaited the beginning of another Poly football game.

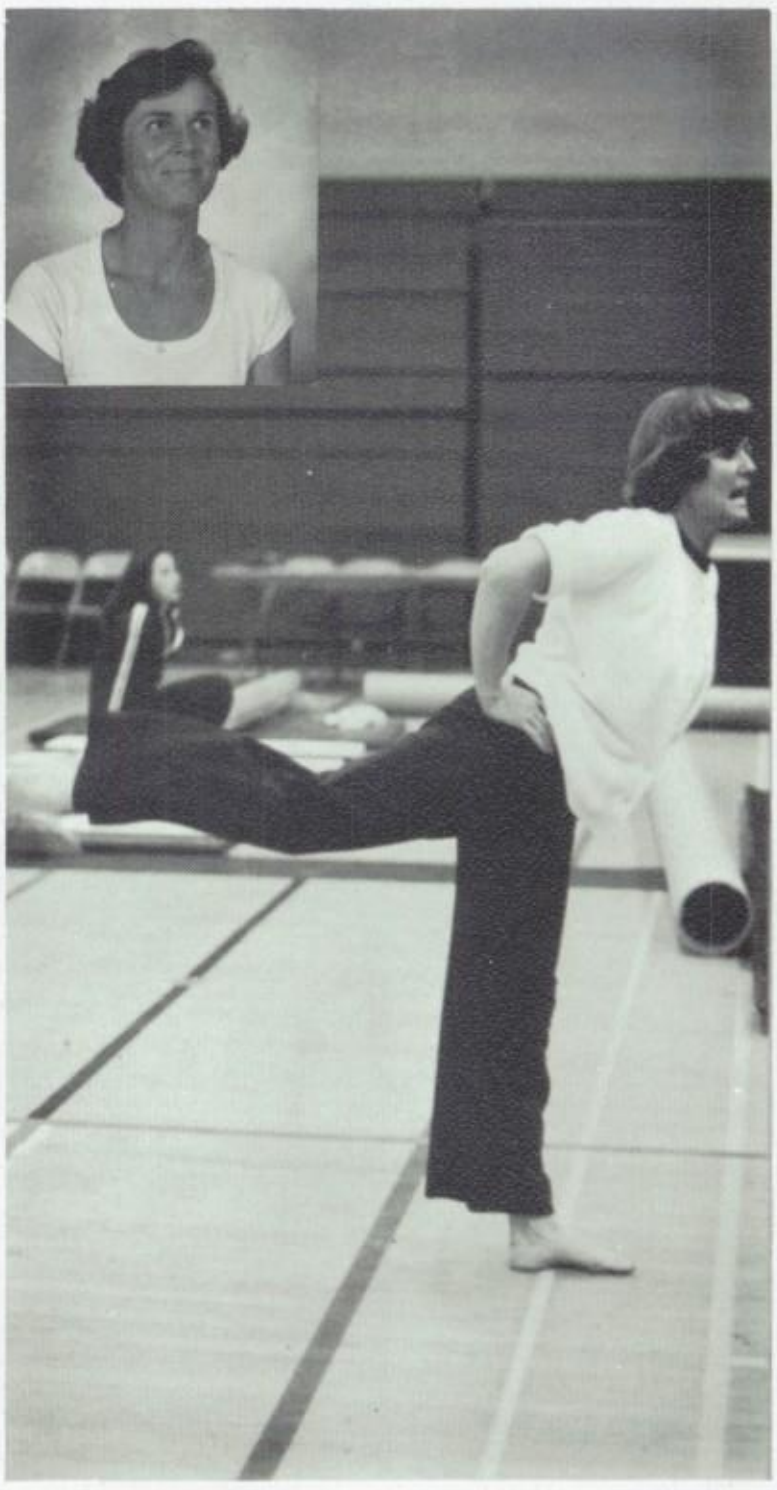
Great Sports

This space is dedicated to Coach Hammerschmidt whose diligent work at Poly will be deeply missed by all, due to his retirement this year.

Coach Almquist tried to conceal his girl-watching activities behind his mirrored sunglasses.

Coach Graves thought it was more fun to play baseball than to teach it.

Mrs. Hart showed a unique sit-up method to her class.



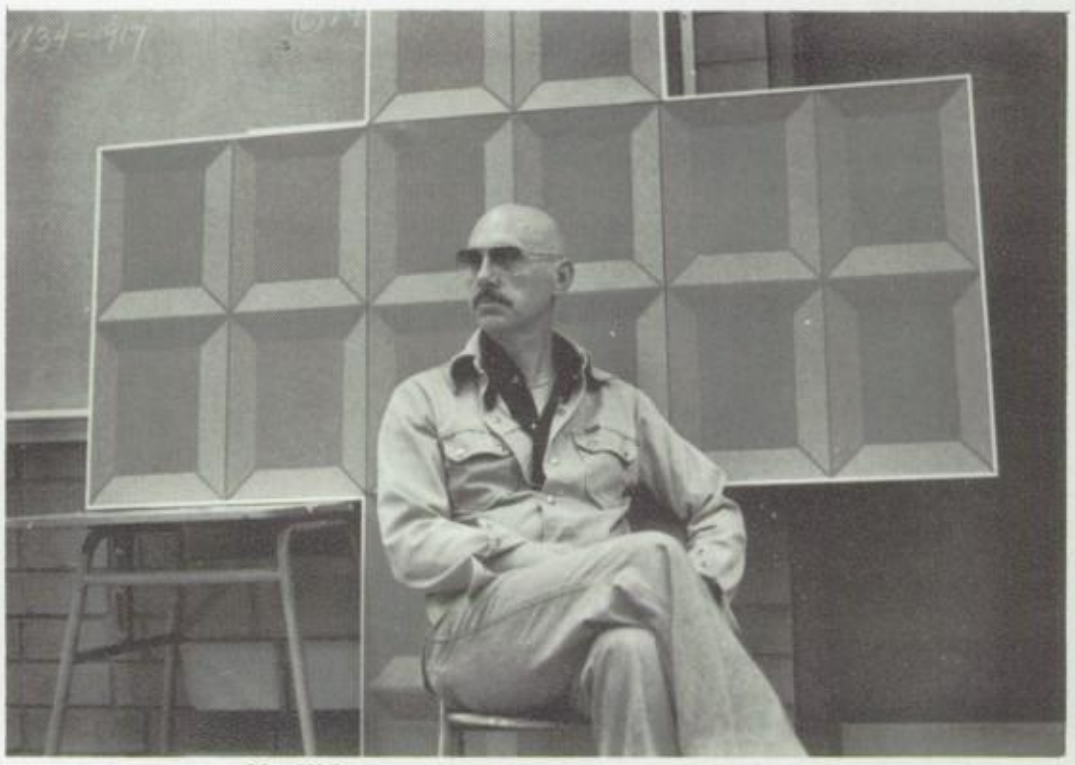
"Oh," moaned Mrs. Snelgrove, "I must be getting old. I can't do these excercises anymore."

They Inspire New

The members of the Art department found ways to excercise their bodies as well as their minds. Mr. Bronstrup and Mr. Ragus enjoyed fishing when they had the time. Our musical instructors experimented in the water as well. Mr. Hensley tried waterskiing and Mr. Johnston actually surfed (?). When Mr. Koehler could escape the pressures of Auto Shop, he turned to dirt bike riding, while Mrs. Kross claimed her forte was tournament tennis. The Art department's faculty had no lack of original ideas for entertainment. Mr. Wilcox restored antique cars, and Mr. Moews trained horses. Mr. Eckert pursued color photography as a hobby, and Mr. Krinke tried to find time alone to rest from the end of the year theater production, Jesus Christ Superstar.

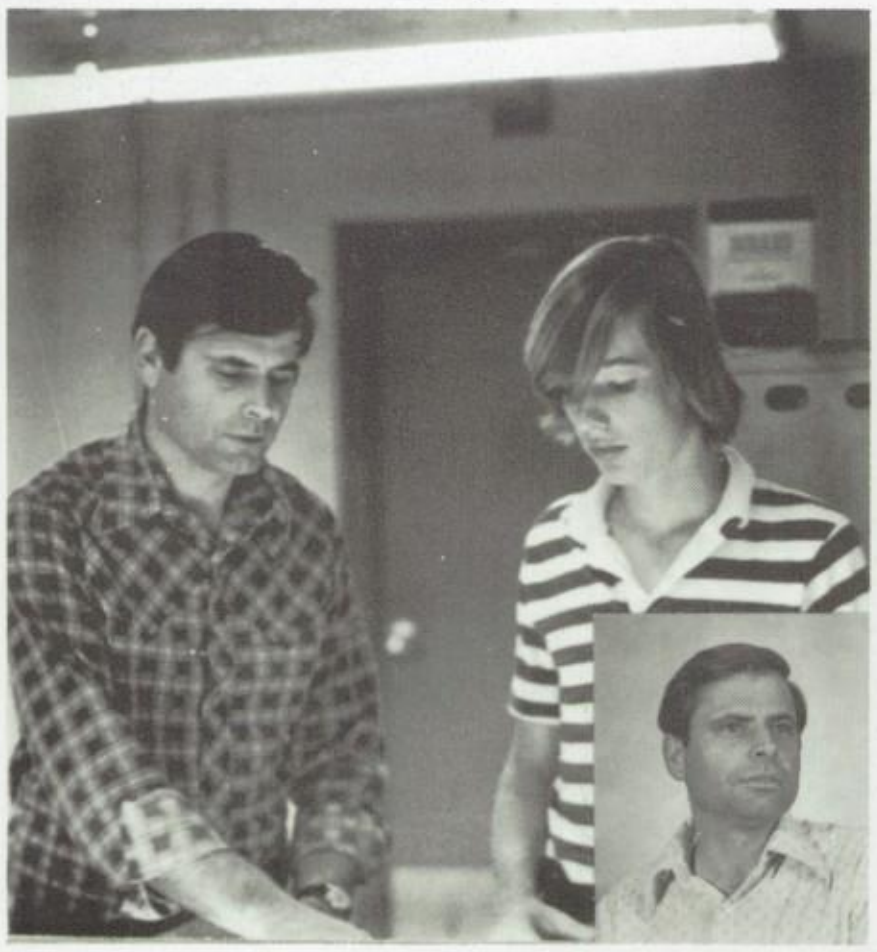
Mr. Bonstrup beamed with pride in front of the P.E. equipment building, a creation of his students.

"That's a bumper, not a hubcap," said auto shop instructor Mr. Koehler.



Mr. Wilcox exhibited a proper modeling pose.

Mr. Eckert showed a student the "industrial art" of silk screening.



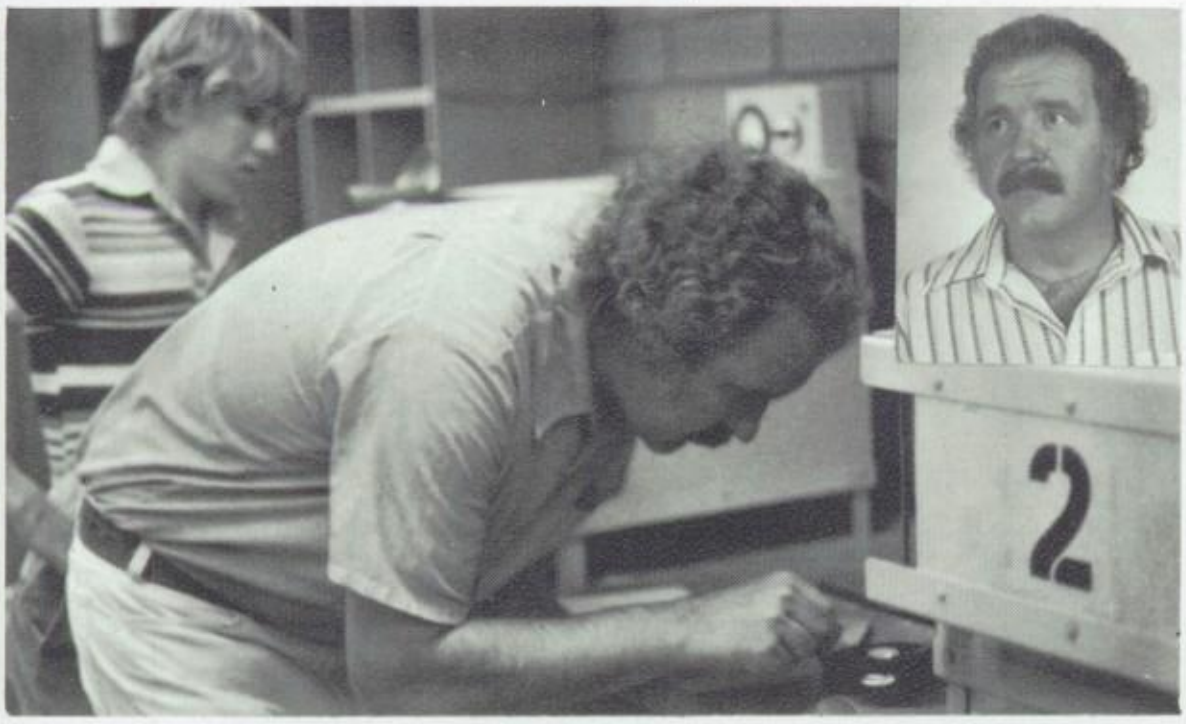
With a peppy, "And a one and a two and a three," Mr. Johnston got his choir into a vocal mood.

Dimensions In Creativity

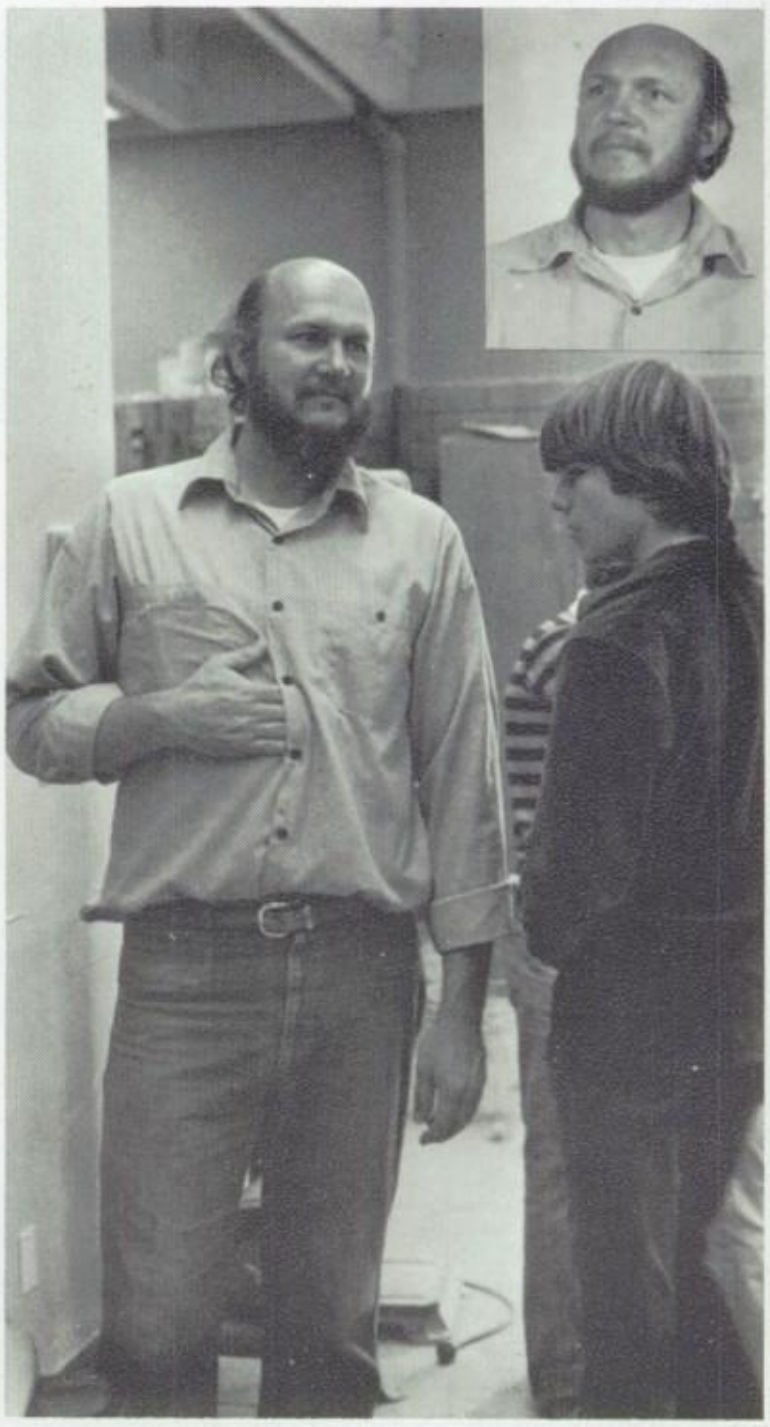
Mr. Krinke diligently painted posters for an upcoming play.

Mrs. Kross proved her versatility, by combining home arts with fine arts.

Sometimes Mr. Ragus got so involved with his student's projects, he forgot to let them help.



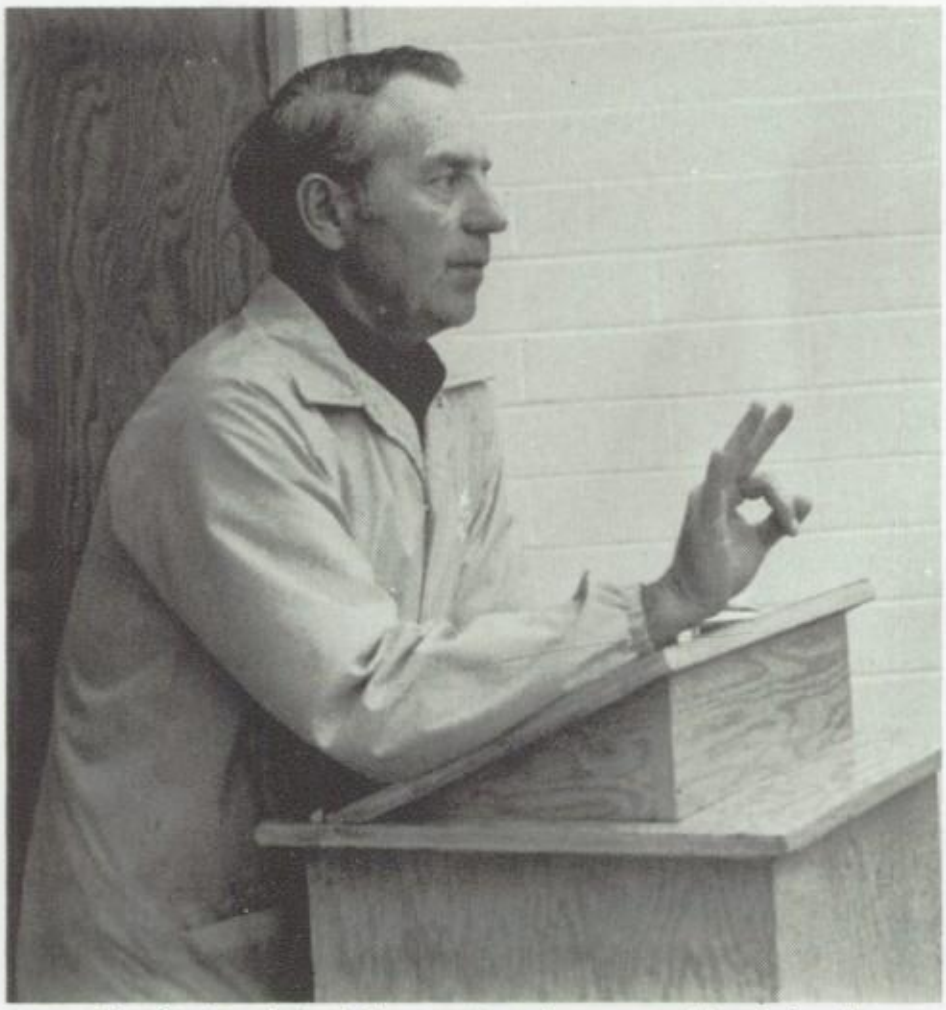
Mr. Hensley surrounded himself with a little glory.



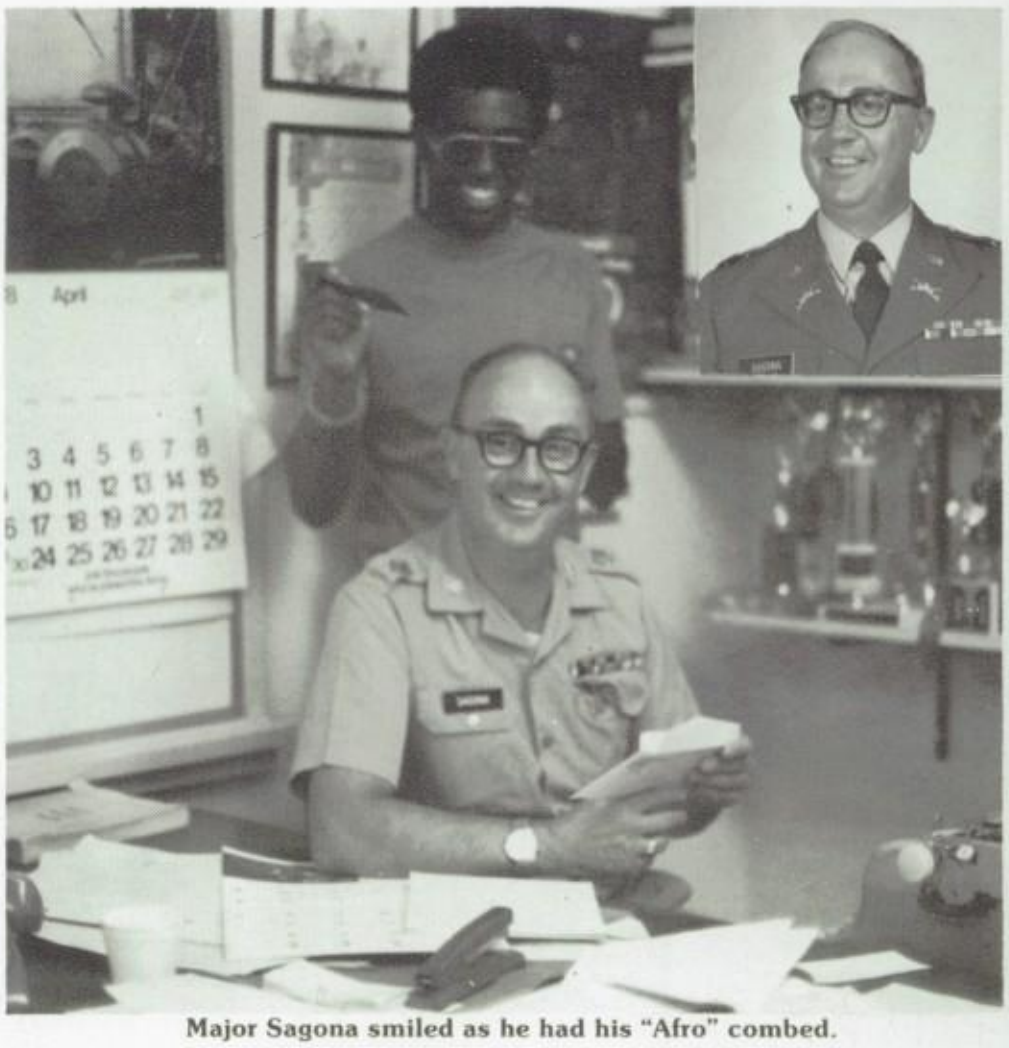
Gary McMillen didn't think much of Mr. Moews imitation of Napoleon.

From The Halls Of Driver Ed.

The extra-curricular activities of the Driver Education and R.O.T.C. departments were neither structured nor regimented. Mr. Gard helped by coaching Poly's basketball team to another victorious season. After reviewing his outdoor skills, Mr. Elliott pursued an old-time hobby, clamming, and Sergeant Klinger tried his hand at backpacking, fishing, and hunting. Straight-laced Major Sagona claimed he listened to popular music, his favorite artist being Barry Manilow.



Mr. Gard explained the meaning of an unusual hand signal.



Major Sagona smiled as he had his "Afro" combed.

Mr. Elliott often wondered about the type of student who would take his class.

Sergeant Klinger lectured to his class on military strategies for the defense of Poly.

The 1977-78 KOALA Staff would like to thank the following people for all of the time and effort they spent on the 1978 KOALA:

Mrs. Doris Bishop, advisor

Mr. Caudle, Isabelle, Rosemary, Joe, Dick D., and all the wonderful people at Citrograph Printing Company

Mr. Ralph Crowell, photographer

Poly High to you all our hearts are true
And we'll work with heart and hand
To spread the fame of your honored name
Throughout the mighty land
Though the wide world calls from your well loved halls
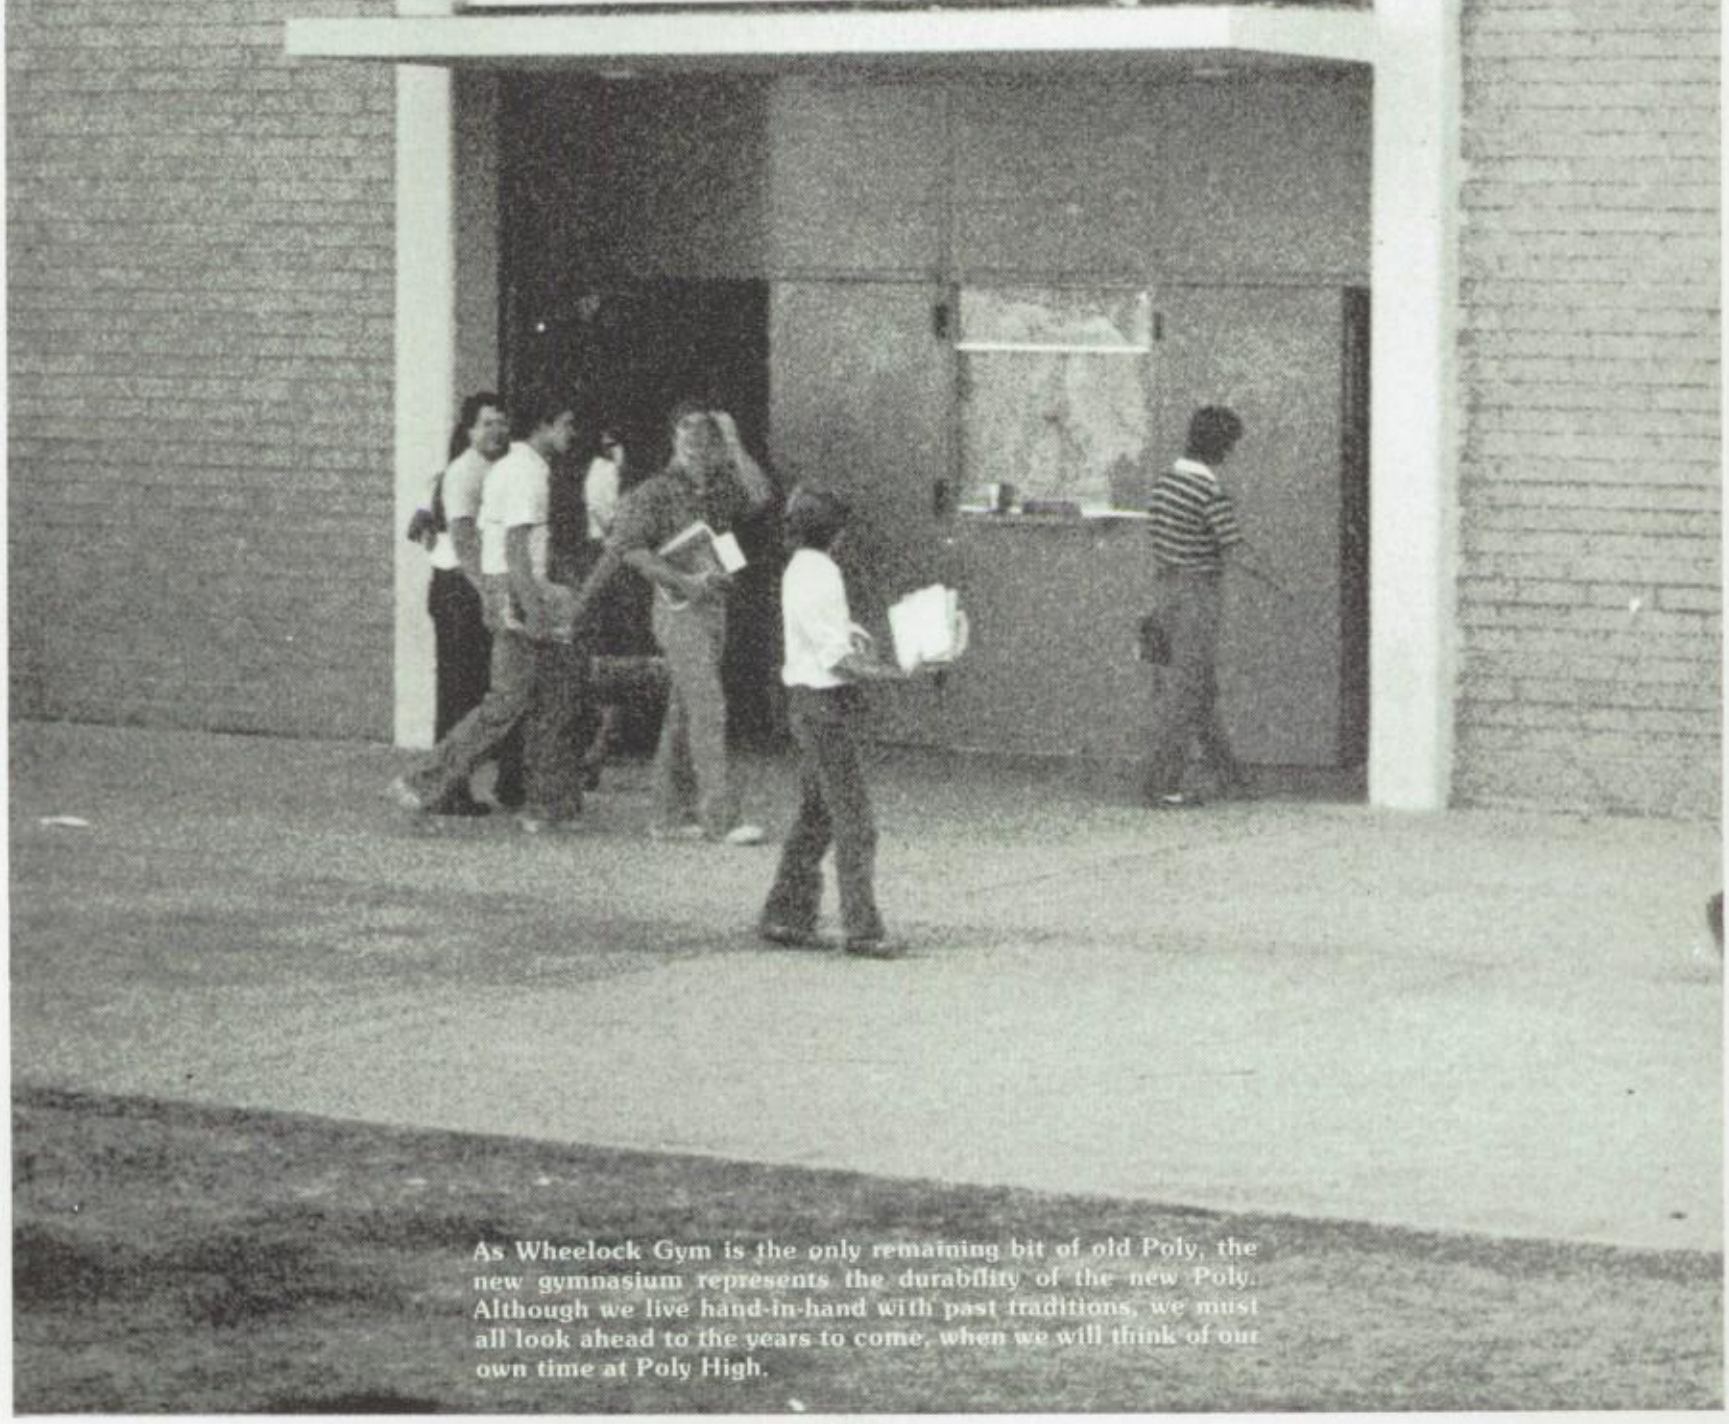
Where the Green and Orange fly
Will our hearts grow light and our eyes grow bright
When we sing of Poly High
Then here's a cheer from Alma Mater
For our beloved Alma Mater
Here's to the school of sterling worth
Here's to the best old school on earth
Stand up and sing and swell the chorus
And let the world with praise resound
And let the colors floating o'er us
Never touch the ground

GYMNASIUM



As Wheelock Gym is the only remaining bit of old Poly, the new gymnasium represents the durability of the new Poly. Although we live hand-in-hand with past traditions, we must all look ahead to the years to come, when we will think of our own time at Poly High.
